EXPERTS AGREE ON GERMAN AID PLAN

LAST SESSION MAY BE HELD THIS MORNING

LONDON CONVENTION WILL BE SUCCESS, IT IS THOUGHT

BY FRANK H. KING

London, July 22 (AP)—The committee of finance ministers of the seven power conference announced tonight that it had decided on a plan for economic and financial aid to Germany and that the plan would be presented tomorrow to what, it was believed here, may be the final plenary session of the conference.

The plan, it was understood, would include measures intended to give Germany at least a 90-day "reprieve" in her struggle against financial and economic difficulties.

It includes a proposal for extending for three months the $100,000,000 credit from the world bank for international settlements and other measures chiefly concerned with the prevention of withdrawals of foreign investments in Germany and with general aid for Germany's finances and those of the Reichsbank.

Four Resolutions

From one quarter close to conference affairs it was learned that four resolutions would be presented to tomorrow's sessions. These, it was stated, would provide:

First, that the central banks and the world bank for international settlements extend the $100,000,000 German credit for a further period of three months.

Second, that private banks be urged to leave their credits now in Germany in German hands for the present;

Third, that a world bank committee be appointed to consider the questions of short-term loans to Germany and the conversion of existing short-term loans to long-term loans;

Fourth that the conference "note with satisfaction" the action of German industrialists in creating a reserve of approximately $125,000,000 on the German gold discount bank.

It was considered tonight that the conference, which has been in session only 48 hours, will have set a new speed record for world diplomacy if, as was anticipated in informed quarters tonight, it approves the plan of the finance ministers' committee and decides to make tomorrow's session the last plenary session of the conference.

The proposed plan, it was said, is largely based on President Hoover's views as communicated to Secretaries Stimson and Mellon at Paris a few days ago, but they have been woven into the general fabric of a European plan for stemming the tide of German collapse.

If present plans are carried through the conference will end about noon tomorrow, giving the delegates the afternoon and evening for social affairs.

Each nation represented here has had a share in the plan, it was said, but nobody could forecast whether the measures which probably will be taken will be sufficient to satisfy Germany's requirements.

REVOKE LICENSE

Lansing, Mich., July 22 (AP)—The license of the Continental Detroit company an investment concern, was revoked today by the state securities commission. It was alleged Miss Agnes Pratt, of Detroit, was defrauded of bonds and money in connection with a stock deal by the company.

Hall and Hawks May Engage in Thrilling Speed Flight Duels

BY M. E. DUHAMEL
(Ass'd Press Staff Writer)

New York, July 22 (AP)—If James Goodwin Hall, aviation's newest sensation, has set out to capture the laurels of Captain Frank M. Hawks, pilots believe the most thrilling chapter in American speeding flying history is about to be written.

Both fliers today were in action, Hall chasing a Montreal-New York record made by his veteran rival and Hawks poising for a flight before dawn tomorrow to Havana, to try to set new marks for that flight, both north and south.

Hall flew to Montreal early this afternoon in one hour 57 minutes, probably setting a low mark for that 350-mile course.

Hawks Famed Racer

On the return trip, however, he required one hour and 59 minutes, 14 minutes slower than Capt. Hawks' Montreal-New York record.

Hawks for more than a year has been rated the world's premier sky-splitter. His dashes to the Pacific coast and back and his more recent record-making flights between eastern cities of the United States and Canada opened a new era in fast travel.

Hawks made 92 trips in six months, covering 25,000 miles and attaining a speed of 270 miles an hour. His average for the period was something like 145 miles an hour.

Hall, hardly beginning his career as a speeder, did not bother with the flight times of any of the lesser demons of the skies but went straight after Captain Hawks' New York-Havana record and succeeded in so closely approximating it as to give the hair splitters close figuring to determine who actually was the winner.

He is content to have divided the honors there for the present.

Lowers Record

In the Havana try Hall succeeded in lowering Hawks' flying time for the return trip by eight minutes and 30 seconds, making the run in seven hours, 54 minutes and 30 second. But his elapsed time was seven minutes slower than that of Hawks' two-stop flight from the Cuban capital.

Thus far Hall, a New York stock broker, has disclaimed any intent to try to wrest Hawks' laurels. His flights, however, have been over trails blazed by the speedy rival and Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh. It was in the same manner, fliers recalled, that Hawks set out to demolish the Lindbergh flight record from Los Angeles to New York, considered when made as about the fastest any human being could hope to cover the distance.

FIRE CLAIMS NINTH VICTIM

Driller Burned in Oil Disaster Dies at Mt. Pleasant

Mt. Pleasant, Mich., July 22. (AP)—The first major disaster in a Michigan oil field had claimed its ninth life tonight.

The latest death was that of Thomas D. Lamb, 28, a driller, who died in the Mt. Pleasant hospital today while funeral services were being held for Ruby Melvin, 13, one of the other victims.

Lamb, Walter McClanahan, John Melvin, E. J. Guy and his son, Robert, were the most seriously burned survivors of last Saturday's fire. Hospital officials said today that the remaining four are expected to recover. The other eight deaths from burns occurred Sunday and early Monday. The fire was finally extinguished Tuesday morning.

Three Victims Buried.

The unruly gusher the "Struble No. 1," was under control today, its oil being diverted into two 500-gallon tanks. Oil men said the flow was not expected to exceed 800 barrels a day.

Funeral arrangements for the victims of the fire being completed today. The bodies of Mrs. Robert Guy and Mrs. E. J. Guy, wives of two of the men still in the hospital, were sent to Erie, Kan., for burial today. Funeral services for Mrs. McClanahan and Marion Fugate were held today at Springfield, Tenn. Services for Mrs. H. E. Whittkind were held in Mt. Pleasant. The funerals of Thomas Lamb, Mrs. Anna Lamb will be at Indianapolis and that of A. E. Gorham at Cleveland tomorrow.

State police continued to patrol the territory around the well today in case a chance spark should again ignite the oil.

The work of extinguishing the fire with live steam and water was estimated by R. J. Martin, conservation officer, to have cost approximately $2,000.

Mrs. Knute Rockne Will Take Part In Notre Dame "Movie"

Chicago, July 22 (AP)—Making a last minute decision, Mrs. Knute Rockne, widow of the famous football coach, boarded the train tonight with former footbal stars enroute to Hollywood, Cal., to take part in a motion picture portraying football days at Notre Dame university.

Mrs. Rockne had come in from South Bend, Ind., this afternoon with the intention of attending a send-off banquet for the football players and their wives. Instead of going to the banquet she went back home and packed her traveling bags.

Rockne was on his way to California in regard to this picture when he was killed in an airplane crash in Kansas City last spring.

Three of the famous Four Horsemen of the 1924 team and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. James Crowley, Mr. and Mrs. Don Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stuhldreher, were among those California bound tonight.

Green Urges All War Debts Be Cancelled

Washington, July 22 (AP)—A permanent holiday in reparations and war debt payments was advocated today by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor.

Expressing his individual opinion, Green said he felt the one-year moratorium now in effect would be helpful but added that alone "it would only postpone the evil day of reckoning."

He said he did not know the views of the majority of organized labor on cancellation or modification.

Pessemistic over the economic outlook for the coming winter, the federation head said he felt revision of the entire structure of war debts would be a major factor in world business recovery.

23-Year-Old Girl Says Minister Is Father Of Her Son

Camden, N. J. July 22 (AP)—The Rev. Dr. Camille Estornelle, of this city, who is suing his wife for divorce on the ground of desertion, today heard a 23-year-old girl testify before an advisory master in chancery court that he was the father of her two and a half year old boy.

Dr. Estornelle is defendant in a counter suit filed by the wife, Mrs. Florance Hann Estornelle, in a Philadelphia court, charging him with unfaithfulness which he denies. Mrs. Estornelle is employed in a beauty shop at Ardmore, near Philadelphia, and since being separated from her husband has been living in Philadelphia. After the wife filed the counter suit, Dr. Estornelle resigned his charge.

The suit now being heard is that of the husband which was filed at Trenton, N. J. Taking of testimony began yesterday.

National Air Tour Pays Omaha Visit

Omaha, Neb., July 22 (AP)—Paced by George Dickson, flying a non-contesting ship, the national air tour paid its visit to Omaha today and treated 2,000 air enthusiasts to a thrilling exhibition of flying.

The 19 planes in the tour came here from Lincoln after a last minute decision. Last night the tour heads announced the fliers would not visit Omaha but early today the decision was reconsidered.

Harry Russell, Dearborn, Mich., winner of the 1930 tour award, and the leader thus far in the year's tour, was the fourth pilot to land here and easily retained his commanding lead over the eight other prize contesting pilots.

The fliers will hop to St. Joseph tomorrow.

Telephone Taxes Not Permissable

Lansing, Mich., July 22. (AP)—Mayor William McKeighan, of Flint, will be unable to carry out his plan of taxing telephones to bolster city funds, state officials said today.

Robert H. Dunn, chairman of the public utilities commission, said the state law gives that body absolute power over telephone rates and charges.

156-Year-Old Turk Is Just Youngster

Constantinople, Turkey (NEA)—Zaro Agha, the 156-year-old Turk who recently paid America a visit, is still a youngster as far as Hamit Kara Halil is concerned. Hamit claims he still carries the coin given him by Zaro's father when he was told to run and fetch the doctor on the occasion of Zaro's birth in 1774. Hamit speaks English, French and German fluently and plays an impressive game of dominoes.

'LEGGER KILLS 2 DRY AGENTS

Federal Officers Shot in Attempt to Make Arrest

Fort Wayne, Ind., July 22. (AP)—Two federal prohibition agents were shot and killed and two others wounded a mile south of Fort Wayne on the Huntington road tonight in an attempt to arrest George Adams, alleged Fort Wayne bootlegger, on parole from a federal penitentiary where he was sentenced in 1930 on a liquor charge.

The dead men are John I. Wilson, of the Indianapolis office of the prohibition enforcement bureau and Walter M. Gilbert, 33, whose home office is in Cincinnati, Ohio. Wilson was killed almost instantly by eight bullets from a .45 calibre revolver. Gilbert died in a Fort Wayne hospital from a hemorrhage caused when his lung was penetrated by a bullet.

Search for Slayer.

The wounded men are C. E. Green, Portland, Ind., and Oliver J. Gettle, Indianapolis, working with the officers.

Giving their attention to their slain confederates, Green and Gettle said Adams drove away in his automobile. An intense search was started for him immediately.

The officers working in two automobiles planned to capture Adams, believing he carried a load of liquor. One detachment of officers stopped in front of Adam's car while the others came up from behind.

Adams began firing immediately at Wilson and Gilbert and then reloading his weapon turned upon Green and Gettle, they said. Neither of the latter two was seriously hurt.

After Wilson had fallen from three bullet wounds, Green and Gettle said, Adams ran to him and fired five more shots into his body.

Man Thought Killed In Bootleg Feud

Detroit, July 22 (AP)—A man tentatively identified as Earl Passman, 22, was found dying of a stomach wound on the sidewalk near Woodward and Seward avenues tonight, victim, police said, of a bootleggers' feud.

The man was in the arms of Henry Pont, 24, when police arrived. He died 20 minutes later.

Police said they had learned that the shooting occurred in an alley a considerable distance away, and that Pont had driven the wounded man to the place where he was found, in a car which contained eight cases of beer.

The car was found in a garage nearby and was impounded by police. Pont is held for investigation.

CHIANG WANTS REBELS' AID IN WAR ON JAPAN

OUTRAGES ON KOREA MOTIVE, CHINESE LEADER SAYS

Hongkong, July 22 (AP)—Chiang Kai-Shek, president of the Nationalist government of China, was said by the Cantonese insurgent government today to have asked the rebels to join in a war upon Japan in consequence of Korean outrages upon Chinese.

Harassed by new rebellious alignment against the Nationalist regime, Chiang was asserted to have offered to resign the presidency and take command of a force of 500,000 men to be raised in various provinces and thrown against Japan at the Korean border.

The Nationalist president was said to have seized the recent killing of 100 Chinese in Korea by native mobs as a motive for making war upon Japan, which rules Korea. The Korean riots grew out of an attack by 500 Chinese upon 200 Korean irrigation laborers in Manchuria.

Would End Strife

Although Japanese police stations were refuges of hunted Chinese and Japanese police killed Korean attackers, Chiang was reported to seek hostilities against Japan as a means of ending factional strife in China in a struggle against a common enemy.

The Canton government, however, was represented as not disposed to fight Japan, and it had not replied to Chiang's proposals. These were announced as having been transmitted through Chang Hsueh-Liang, governor of Manchuria and ally of the Nationalist government.

Professing friendship toward Japan, the Canton insurgents sent Eugene Chen, their foreign minister to Japan, to negotiate with Baron Shidehara, Japanese foreign minister. Japan, having recognized the Chinese Nationalist government, agreed to receive Chen only as a foreigner making "a special inspection tour."

New Rebellion

Fully occupied with a two-month campaign against Red and bandit armies of Kiangsi province in which his troops have achieved little success, President Chiang Kai-Shek was called upon to meet a dangerous new rebellion in North China led by General Shih-Yu-San, commissioned by the Canton insurgents as commander.

Shih was said to have boasted to Canton Saturday that his troops would "reduce" Peping and Tientsin within a few days. The task seemed big for his poorly equipped and poorly trained 60,000 men opposed to 140,000 well armed Manchurians whose numbers could be increased to 200,000 to pour southward from within the great wall of China.

Martial law was proclaimed in Tientsin as Manchurian troops gathered there and nearby to repel Shih's expected attack. Their general, Hu Hsueh-Chung, announced an offensive would be launched against the rebels "as soon as possible."

Ambassador Dawes Sails for England

New York, July 22 (AP)—Ambassador Charles G. Dawes, who has been on a short leave of absence from his diplomatic duties at the Court of St. James, sailed for England today on the Cunard liner Mauretania.

The ambassador declined to comment on the present conferences in Europe, although he said he was returning to his post sooner than he had planned.

World Bank Handles Germany's Payments to Creditor Nations

(This is the third of three dispatches prepared by Charles B. Watkins, who covers the United States treasury for the Associated Press, dealing with the various aspects of world finance involved in the present international negotiations).

BY CHARLES D. WATKINS

Washington, July 22 (AP)—When an important business man finds himself deeply involved in financial difficulties his first step is to talk things over with his banker and his creditors.

That is what Germany is doing today. Its bank is the bank for international settlements. That institution is expected to have an important part in carrying out whatever decisions may be reached at the present London conference.

The bank was organized under the Young plan, a program of German reparations payments named for Owen D. Young, New York financier, who took the leadership in the committee of financial experts which devised it.

The fundamental function of the bank is to handle payments from Germany to her creditor nations, to facilitate the transfers and prevent them from disrupting European financial markets.

The Young plan, formulated in 1929, replaced the Dawes plan of 1924 and reduced the total of German reparations payments from $33,000,000,000 to $26,000,000,00. Under the Young plan, Germany was to pay $450,000,000 annually for 37 years, $408,000,000 annually for the

Lindberghs Planning To Take Off Some Day Next Week for Orient

New York, July 22. (AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh announced tonight that he and his wife would take off next week on their flight to the Orient.

Col Lindbergh said he was not ready to name the day of his departure because it had not been determined upon.

His route lies over Canada, the Hudson Bay district and through northern Alaska down the eastern coast of Siberia to Tokyo. He will then fly to China but the itinerery in that area has not been fixed.

Before starting for the Orient Col Lindbergh said he will go to Washington for a final conference with state department officials, and to obtain clearance papers.

Equipped with Radio.

Whether he will head for Canada from Washington or return first to New York is to be decided.

Eleven refueling stops have been arranged on Lindbergh's route and fuel depots completed.

The remodeled Lockheed Sirius low wing monoplane which Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh will use is now at a pontoon factory at College Point, Long Island, undergoing final adjustments. It will be ready in two or three days.

It is equipped with wireless and both Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh recently passed regular examinations for commercial third class licenses to send and receive messages during the flight.

The Lindberghs' first stop will be Ottawa, where he has informed United States Minister Hanford MacNider they will spend the night.

Col. Lindbergh has emphasized that the flight is in the nature of a vacation and no definite schedule will be maintained.

After Ottawa the Lindberghs will touch at Moose Factory on James Bay, Churchill on the Western side of Hudson Bay, Baker's Lake, Aklavick and Point Barrow and Nome, Alaska.

Longest Hop 1,000 Miles.

From Nome they will head for eastern Siberia, stopping first at Karaginsk, then Petropavlovsk on the Kamchatka peninsula, Nemuro, Japan and Tokyo. At Tokyo refueling and other preparations will be made for the trip into China.

The principal over water leg of the entire flight will be from Nome to Karaginsk, which is on an island on the extreme eastern coast of Siberia. The distance of this hop is about one thousand miles.

Part of the journey from Petropavlovsk will be over water, but on part of this flight to Nemuro the Lindberghs will have an island studded chain beneath them.

ONLOOKER SHOT IN RUM BATTLE

Passenger on Excursion Boat Wounded During Firing Scrimmage

Detroit, July 22 (AP)—Four investigations were being conducted tonight to fix the responsibility for the wounding of a passenger on an excursion steamer in Lake St. Clair last night during a skirmish between customs speedboats and a rum-running craft.

The investigations were being made by Walter S. Petty, assistant collector of customs; Representative Robert P. Clancy; Assistant Prosecutor Herbert E. Munro and Frederick J. Simpson, vice-president of the Detroit and Windsor Ferry company, operator of the steamer Ste. Claire aboard which the passenger was wounded.

Passenger Wounded

The shooting occurred when a customs boat encountered a rum-runner near the steamer, which was from Peche Isle with about 1,000 excursionists aboard. During the subsequent pursuit a number of shots were fired near the steamer, one of them striking Arthur Gajeski, 23, a passenger, in the arm.

Clarence E. Fish and Arthur Weslowski, the customs border patrol inspectors in charge of the government boat which figured in the incident, were taken to the prosecuting attorney's office this afternoon to make statements.

The reports of witnesses and officials differed as to who fired the first shots. Witnesses said about 30 shots were fired and the customs officers did all the shooting. Petty said his officers fired about a dozen shots after the rum

Burke's Captors Get Vacations But No $40,000 Reward

Chicago, July 22 (AP)—A 15-day vacation, instead of thousands of dollars, is the reward of four St. Joseph, Mo., police for capturing Fred Burke, notorious killer.

It was learned today that the vacation with pay was granted the officers after hopes of collecting the huge rewards for Burke's arrest and conviction of various crimes went glimmering.

The largest reward hoped for was $40,000 offered by Chicago and Cook county for the conviction of the men, believed to be five, who killed seven George (Bugs) Moran gangsters in the St. Valentine's massacre of 1929. Burke was indicted as one of these five men.

Coroner Herman Bundesen said the $40,000 reward was for conviction on the massacre charge, and no other. Burke, however, was taken to St. Joseph, Mich., and sentenced to life imprisonment for the killing of a policeman there.

Syndicalist Fight In Spain Causes Deaths of 17 Men

Seville, Spain, July 22 (AP)—Known fatalities in the syndicalist fighting with government forces rose to seventeen today with the killing of a soldier and three civilians in the suburb of Triana.

Troops with machine guns fired on strikers in the suburb, wounding many.

Strikers, on their part, fired on troops who were guarding alleged anarchist prisoners aboard a ship awaiting transportation to Cadiz for deportation to Africa. The troops returned the shots, dispersing their assailants. Some of the strikers were thought killed or wounded.

Official estimates placed the arrests at 300. Because jails were packed to capacity, some of the old Ibero-American exposition buildings were used for prisons.

OFFICIALS SEE FULL SUCCESS AT GATHERING

APPROVED PLAN IS VERY SIMILAR TO U. S. PROPOSAL

Washington, July 22 (AP)—Successful conclusion tomorrow of the work of the London ministers' conference to afford financial relief to Germany was predicted tonight by high administration authorities.

Late in the day, Secretary Stimson telephoned Acting Secretary Castle of the state department in Washington that recommendations to be submitted to the conference tomorrow were satisfactory to the United States. The recommendations were adopted by the finance ministers attending the conference.

The secretary's message by telephone was the only report received during the day by the American government from its representatives.

Like U. S. Plan

Press dispatches outlining the recommendations showed very closely followed the proposal, which Mr. Castle had said was made to the conference on behalf of the United States.

The first two points of the an extention of the $100,000,000 central and world banks credit and maintenance of levels of private credits, coincided with the American suggestion as made public here.

The third point recommending appointment of a committee to consider the question of short term loans and converston of short into long term loans coincided with the American suggestion that such a committee be selected by the bank for international settlements, or other authority.

The fourth recommendation noting with satisfaction the action of German industrialists in creating a reserve of approximately $125,000,000 on the German gold discount bank not directly referred to in the American proposal made public here, except that the latter spoke of internal measures in Germany to strengthen the financial situation.

Until Secretary Stimson called the question of who conceived the proposal before the conference overshadowed other developments in interest.

Developed in U. S.

Answering questions of newspaper correspondents in London Stimson said the proposal was worked out together by the Americans and the British.

On the other hand, Castle said it was President Hoover's idea and was developed in Washington without consulting British officials.

Officials who had been informed of Stimson's statement, said they were sure Castle and the secretary were both speaking of the same thing.

The plan, Castle said, was sent to Stimson at Paris last week and he talked it over with statesmen there at the time. It was made public yesterday by the state department.

If the British in their own investigations of the situation reached the same conclusions, Castle added, so much the better.

Vallee Crowned "King"; 2 Women Faint In Crush

New York, July 22 (AP)—Two women fainted in a crush of more than 1,000 persons who today struggled to see Rudy Vallee crowned "king" in a newspaper popularity contest.

While scores of police tried to keep the crowds back, Mayor James J. Walker strove to make himself heard above the din, and radio announcers fought to save their microphones from demolition.

Finally 100 firemen, who had escorted Kate Smith, singer, to the city hall where the ceremonies were held, took a hand and quelled the disturbance. There were hundrds of women in the throng, eager to catch a glimpse of the recently married crooner, and several suffered minor injuries.

Vallee was given a loving cup nearly three feet high. Besides Kate Smith, others who were rewarded for their popularity on the air were Ozzie Nelson, Weber and Fields, Morton Downey, Florence Richardson and A. L. Alexander, an announcer.

Four Are Injured By Bombs Thrown At Japan Leaders

Shanghai, July 23. (Thursday) (AP) — Four bystanders were wounded at the Shanghai north station today when two bombs, thrown at T. B. Soong, minister of finance, and the Japanese minister, Mamoru Shigemitsu, missed their marks. Neither of the two ministers was injured. Soong and Shigemitsu had just arrived by train from Nanking. No arrests were made immediately.

Soong and Shigemitsu, having just left the night express from the capital, were entering motor cars at the station exit when the bombs were thrown.

Workman Killed As Steel Frame Falls

New York, July 22 (AP)—Harold Dougherty, a workman, was killed beneath tons of falling steel today when a derrick collapsed on a five-story building under construction and sent the framework tumbling to the third floor and street below.

Nine men were injured, including O. K. Tabor, a traffic superintendent for the New York Telephone company, for which the building was under construction.

The snapping of cables as the derrick broke and steel commenced to fall warned several workmen unloading a truck and they leaped to safety in an excavation under the sidewalk.

Vera Cruz Bishops Will Defy Governor

Mexico City, July 22 (AP)—The apostolic delegate Archbishop Ruiz Y Flores, said today the bishops of Vera Cruz would ignore an edict of Governor Adalberto Tejeda that the church appoint 13 priests in that state.

A Vera Cruz dispatch said the governor had notified all Catholic priests they must comply by Saturday with the recently enacted state law, which allows one priest for every 100,000 persons. There are two bishops in the state, which has a population of about 1,300,000.

Archbishop Ruiz charged the governor violated the terms of the 1929 religious settlement and said that if Vera Cruz state authorities enforce the law and drive the clergy out of their churches the priests will continue to minister to the people secretly.

PYTHON CAUGHT, IT'S MYSTERY

Captors Claim Big Snake in Waters of Sanduskey Bay

Sandusky, O., July 22 (AP)—Snakes is snakes, and regardless of Sandusky's opinion of the "great sea serpent mystery," there was no doubt tonight about the captivity of "python molujus."

The snake—18 feet of it, alive and wriggling and more commonly known as an Indian python—was safely crated up, but how it was captured and where it came from was a mystery as big as the snake.

For weeks Sanduskians have been hearing fishermen relate stories of a huge serpent in the lake, but serpent or no serpent, they were hardly prepared for "Molly."

"Molly," two Cincinnati men insist, was captured in the waters of Sandusky bay, yesterday. The captors, Clifford Wilson and Francis Bagenstose, maintained they were fishing from a rowboat when "Molly" hove alongside. Wilson gave her a whack over the head with his oar, he maintained, and with his companion pulled her aboard. Ashore, they speedily nailed her in a box when she showed signs of returning to activity.

No Signs of Blow

Newspapermen were told by Fire Chief Al Nice of Columbus that he has a nephew named Clifford Wilson, who, he said, is connected with a carnival company which showed in Cleveland during last week's international Shrine convention.

Identification of python molujus was made by Dr. Harold L. Madison, curator of the Cleveland Museum of Natural History. Dr. Madison declined to enter into any controversy as to where the snake came from, but said that it showed no signs of having been hit on the head with such force as to stun it.

The Indian python, he said, is imported in large numbers. Principally by carnivals. It is nonpoisonous.

A carnival at present is playing, but the management declared all its snakes were accounted for.

Wilson has only to say, "I am a reputable man," he proudly exhibited the discovery to newspapermen and patiently repeated his story to the skeptical. Tomorrow, he will take it to Cedar Point for exhibition.

Marriage, Divorce Showed Decrease In U. S. for 1930

Washington, July 22 (AP)—Marriages decreased 8.7 per cent and divorces 4.2 per cent in the United States during 1930.

The census bureau, completing compilations three months more quickly than in any previous year, today tallied 1,128,180 marriages in 1930 as compared with 1,232,559 in 1929. The 1930 divorces number 191,630 as against 201,468 in 1929.

Experts attributed the falling off to the business depression.

The marriage market fell with a particularly heavy thud. Marraiges increased 4.2 per cent from 1928 to 1929.

In addition to the usual computations, the census bureau included a "request number," the relative number of marriages to each divorce. For the United States as a whole, 5.9 marriages were reported for each divorce as against 6.1 in 1929.

Nevada had but 2.3 marriages to each divorce, but even then it led all the states in rate of marriages per 1,000 population, with 67 as against a rate of 9.2 for the United States.

Public Acts Book Available Shortly

Lansing, Mich.—Municipal, township and county officials and attorneys will be able to obtain copies of the Public Acts of 1931 about September 1 from the department of state. Laws passed by the last legislature and not given immediate effect, do not become effective until September 18.

The volume of Public Acts of 1931 is to be similar in size and binding to the Compiled Laws of 1929 and is being printed in the same form as the Compiled Laws. Where some act passed by the 1931 legislature, repeals or amends a former act, the new volume will show in bold face "catch lines" not only the section of the Compiled Laws that is changed but also the page on which the amended act can be found.

Joe Dugan and Waite Hoyt Agree in Divorce Case But Wives Take Different Views

New York, July 22 (AP)—Joseph Anthony Dugan, former third baseman for the Detroit Tigers, and Waite Hoyt, Philadelphia Athletics pitcher are in agreement but neither agrees with the point of view of his wife.

Affidavits filed by the wives in Mrs. Dugans suit for seperation revealed husbands standing together in opposition to wives. Mrs. Dugan was awarded $25 weekly alimony and $250 counsel fees by Justice William T. Collins in supreme court.

Charges Infidelity

Mrs. Dugan, supported by an affidavit by Mrs. Hoyt, said in her petition she had lived with her baseball-playing husband happily for five years. During that period, Dugan gave her a $27,000 house, an automobile and a mink coat, spent $400 weekly for their living expenses and gave other signs of affection.

But in the past three years, things have been different. She charged her husband with gambling, drinking and associating with other women.

Also, she declared, Dugan sold her home, furniture, and automobile and refused to account for the proceeds. Hoyt, she said, was his "buddy."

Dugan and Hoyt both filed affidavits in reply. Dugan said it was his wife who did the drinking and gambling.

And, he added, the only reason Mrs. Hoyt made her affidavit supporting Mrs. Dugan was that the Hoyts had disagreed slightly.

Hoyt, supporting Dugan, said Mrs. Dugan started a quarrel with a stranger in a Montreal hotel elevator four years ago and, when Dugan sought to calm her, began a fight with her husband.

Store Robbery

Republic, Mich., July 21—Bernard Vincent, 19, of Channing, and Miss Viano Carlson, 19, of Republic were in the Dickinson county jail in Iron Mountain tonight after Vincent is reported to have confessed that he robbed the Boli and Erickson store and postoffice in Channing last night. He denied that he girl was involved, but she was held by officers as a witness. It is probable he may be charged with breaking into the postoffice, a federal court offense.

Dock Work Progresses

Marquette—Completion of concrete work on the new South Shore dock is a matter of only a few weeks, engineers in charge of the work said yesterday. About one-third of all the concrete has been poured and with the mixing machinery and other equipment in good working order the remainder of the job will take less than that done thus far.

The first of the concrete cross beams, each weighing ten tons, which connect the dock's columns laterally, was swung into place Monday. There are 24 concrete columns in place and foundation piers for about 15 more have been poured.

May Have Tourney

Marquette—Marquette, it is said, can have the 1932 upper peninsula firemen's tournament, if Marquette wants it. According to information received here from officers of the U. P. Firemen's association, no city has bid for the tournament next year and they are in something of a quandry as to what will happen about selecting a place for the 1932 meet when the firemen gather in Ripley next month for their annual get-together.

The association chiefs declare that Marquette would be a popular choice for the 1932 meet, inasmuch as this city has not had the firemen's tournament for many years and most of the men, it is stated, would like very much to come here.

Boomed for Mayor

Ishpeming—Word comes from Milwaukee that John L. Bohn, former Ishpeming business man, is being urged by business men and politicians to become a candidate for mayor on the Non-Partisan party's ticket at the spring election. Mr. Bohn has been an alderman in Milwaukee for the past 20 years or more, and has served on important committees. He is engaged in the real estate business on the south side and is president of the South Side Commercial club.

There are not many men in Milwaukee better known than Mr. Bohn. During all the years he has served as alderman he has been unusually active in his work. The job pays a salary of $6,000 a year. The mayor's salary is $12,000.

Factory Rushed.

Menominee—Electric fan orders, which continue to pile up despite the lateness of the season, forced the postponement of the second annual Signal Electric Manufacturing Company Picnic from Saturday, July 25th to August 8th. Announcement of the two weeks postponement was made to the workers yesterday after it was definitely known that the time could not be spared from production this week.

While many of the plans attendant to the big outing had already been made and the postponement was somewhat of a disappointment to the Signal workers, it was considered the logical step to take in view of the fan orders which the local firm has yet to fill. Production is being maintained at top speed in an effort to hurry shipments.

P. O. Site Selected.

Iron Mountain—Iron Mountain's new postoffice building will be located on what is known as the A. J. Rundle property, at West Ludington street and Merritt avenue, and the Forsberg, Williams and Trepanier parcels adjoining it to the west, according to a dispatch received at 2:20 o'clock this afternoon from the Associated Press at Washington.

The dispatch said:

"Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Heath announced today the department had selected a site for the new federal building in Iron Mountain. It will be located on Ludington and Merritt avenue part of which will be condemned because of excessive price. Conditional acceptance for the parcel known as Rundle property for $23,500 has been made, he said, and other lots known as the Forsberg, Williams and Trepanier parcels will be condemned."

Irvine Is President

Iron River—Dr. L. F. Irvine was elected president of the Iron River Country club at a meeting of the board of directors last night. He succeeds T. K. Scott, first president of the club, who was not a candidate for re-election to the directorate.

S. E. Quayle was named vice president to succeed V. D. Laing. William J. Collins was re-elected secretary, and H. J. Vesser, was re-named as treasurer.

WORLD BANK HANDLES WAR DEBT PAYMENTS

following 21 years and then make one payment of $216,000,000.

The Bank for International Settlements receives the payments and credits them to the recipient governments. It serves as banker for the nations much as a bank in a community serves its business men.

The stockholders of the world bank were originally the important central banks of the principal nations, England, France, Germany, Italy, Belgium and Japan. Members of the federal reserve system participated for the United States.

Can Buy and Sell

Sixteen other nations, whose monetary system is based on gold, later took shares in the world bank.

The bank enjoys practically all the privileges of an ordinary bank with authority to receive deposits, buy and sell gold and exchange, make discounts and issue certain categories of bonds and short term securities. It began business with deposits of approximately $55,000,000 from the central banks of the allied nations and Germany. It finished the first year with deposits of $356,000,000 and total assets and liabilities of $380,000,000.

At the close of the year, there were outstanding 165,100 shares of stock as compared with 112,000 subscribed by the central banks which founded the institution. The bank has authority to make loans to banks or nations.

In stepping into the shaky German situation last month and approving an advance of $100,000,000 to the Reichsbank, the world bank lived up to the hopes of its originators that it would prove to be a quieting influence when financial difficulties threaten a nation.

FOREST FIRES HARRASS WEST

Wyoming Troops Called Out to Battle Serious Blazes

Cheyenne, Wyo., July 22 (AP)—Wyoming National Guard troops were called out today to fight forest and grass fires in northeastern Wyoming while in the western section of the state 1,000 dude ranch guests, forest rangers, tourists and ranch hands were battling flames that have swept more than 45,000 acres of timber.

The C. M. ranch near Dubois was threatened by fires and ranch guests and others were fighting desperately to halt the flames. Several other smaller ranches also were in the path of the conflagration.

Guard troops were called out at Newcastle in northeastern Wyoming to fight a fire in the Black Hills 15 miles from there that had burned 1,200 acres of timber and grass lands.

Ranches Threatened

The fires spread so rapidly in the extremely dry forests that much game was believed to have perished. Officials were investigating reports that a pyromaniac had started eight fires in the Teton National forest near Lander.

The most disastrous fire was in Yellowstone National park where 25,000 acres on Basin creek were burned over.

Dude ranches were threatened by a fire on Jockey's fork, a stream near Dubois in the center of one of the state's favored scenic sections. Forest officials believed, however, that the flames could be prevented from causing heavy property damage.

As a precautionary measure part of the Washakie forest was closed to visitors. In the Teton National forest a fire burning for two weeks was still out of control with between 7,000 and 8,000 acres burned over.

Tired Of Situation

Rep. Clancy said customs officers were under orders to fire no shots unless their lives were endangered by shots from rum runners. He said he was inclined to believe the claim that the officers did all the shooting.

Simpson issued a statement today in which he said his firm was "tired of having our passengers lives placed in peopardy every time we take a load out onto the river." A week ago he said the steamer Columbia came on a gun battle near the scene of last night's affair and that shots were fired near the steamer.

A full report of the incident was forwarded to customs officials at Washington today.

Hudson Is Named In Bigamy Warrant

Longview, Wash., July 22 (AP)—A charge of bigamy was filed by County Prosecutor Cecil C. Hallin, today against G. Edward Hudson, who married Mrs. Minnie (Ma) Kennedy here June 28 and a warrant for Hudson's arrest immediately issued.

The prosecutor charged Hudson was not divorced from Mrs. L. Margaret Newton-Hudson at the time he married the mother of Aimee McPherson, Los Angeles evangelist, here.

Mrs. Kennedy filed suit in Los Angeles last week seeking annulment of her marriage to Hudson. Mrs. Newton Hudson has filed suit for divorce and yesterday a $250,000 breach of promise suit was filed against Hudson by Mrs. Ethel Lee Parker Herbert. She charged Hudson had refused to marry her after taking her on a pre-nuptial trip in 1929.

America Demands China Surrender U. S. Missionary

Washington, July 22 (AP)—The American government today demanded that Chinese authorities who are holding Dr. Francis F. Tucker, an American missionary, surrender him to United States officials in accordance with provisions of the extraterritoriality treaty.

Dr. Tucker, member of the American board of commissioners for foreign missions, is under arrest at Tsinanfu for fatally shooting a Chinese employee of the mission hospital at Techow.

Under the extraterritoriality treaty between the United States and China, Americans can be arrested by Chinese authorities but must be turned over to this government for trial in the U. S. court in China.

The shooting for which Dr. Tucker is held occurred July 11. According to his own statement, a resume of which was forwarded to the department today by the American legation, Dr. Tucker believed the Chinese to be a burglar.

Double For Boots, Babe

Test Automobile Will Arrive In This City Today

The Chevrolet automobile, from the "white fleet" of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana will arrive in Escanaba today. It will be on display for several hours at the Brackett-Chevrolet garage.

This car is one of the thirteen which were used by the American Automobile Association in conducting a 9,000-mile test of lubrication for the Standard on the Indianapolis speedway. The cars are now on a five months' tour of the central west in which they are making known to automobile dealers the certified results of the Indianapolis test. At the same time the cars are gathering further data to be used by the Standard engineers in carrying forward their study of lubricants and lubrication.

The car expected here has already covered 4,235 miles on tour. It will cover about 20,000 miles in all before its tour is over besides its 9,000 miles at Indianapolis. Performance of the car to date is reported to be a revelation of the unusual dependability of the modern motor car when correctly lubricated.

While other cars of the white fleet have previously visited the city, the visit of the Chevrolet will be of additional interest, particularly because of the greater distance it has gone and larger amount of data it has accumulated.

Helen Wills Moody Enters Semi-Final Round Of Net Meet

Manchester, Mass. July 22 (AP)—Mrs. Helen Wills Moody entered the semi-final round of the Essex Country Club's invitation singles tennis tournament today accompanied by the first three ranking women players of America, not one of whom appears capable of winning even a set against the former world's champion.

Mrs. Moody made the advance by defeating Virginia Hilleary, Philadelphia, 6-2, 6-0, and Dorothy Weisel, of Sacramento, prepared to step into the great Helen's stroking range by defeating Josephine Cruickshank of Santa Ana, 6-2, 6-4.

In the only keenly contested match Mrs. awrence A. Harper of Oakland, Calif., defeated Mary Greef of Kansas City, 9 to 7, 6-3. Marjorie Morrill, Dedham, the defending champion, breezed into the second last round, losing only a game to Sarah Palfrey, Brookline who refused to default, despite a strained back.

COURT MAY ACT ON BUDGET SUIT

Supreme Judges May Be Asked to Consider Situation

Lansing, Mich., July 22 (AP)—The state supreme court may be asked to pass upon the validity of slashes made in the budget by Gov. Wilber M. Brucker.

Counsel for the state and for State Senators Arthur E. Wood and Joe C. Foster, who contend the governor violated his constitutional authority when he reduced appropriation items today were preparing a list of questions relative to the interpretation of the constitutional provision.

They will be submitted to Judge Leland W. Carr, before whom the senators started a suit to invalidate the governor's "partial vetoes." He in turn, may ask the high court to give him an opinion as to the governor's power before he makes a ruling.

If the supreme court holds with Senators Wood and Foster that the governor must either veto or approve appropriations outright the question may arise as to whether the entire budget is null in such a case, a special session of the legislature would be required. The senators are asking, however, only for erasure of the executive's partial vetoes. This would restore the budget bill to the amount approved by the legislature and would add about $1,000,000 a year to the amounts available for the operation of state institutions and departments. The senators charge the governor, by pruning the budget, would hamper institutions and departments.

Five-room cottages are being built of copper in Germany and the same metal is being used for frames in church walls.

The fortune of the ex-Kaiser of Germany is estimated to be more than $62,500,000.

NO-DIVORCE ISLE

London—The ninth application for divorce in 50 years on the Isle of Man has brought forcibly back to inhabitants that there is a no-divorce law in effect there. In order for divorce proceedings to be started a special bill has to be passed for each case. After the council has passed it, it must be passed by the House of Keys, sent to London for royal assent, and finally promulgated from the open-air Tynwald court.

The very first application will give you relief and a few short treatments will thoroughly convince you that by sticking faithfully to it for a short while your skin troubles will be a thing of the past.

Remember that Moone's Emerald Oil is a clean, powerful, penetrating Antiseptic Oil that does not stain or leave a greasy residue and that it must give complete satisfaction or your money cheerfully refunded.

The program for the tenth annual Epworth League Institute for the Marquette district to be held July 31 to August 9 on the assembly grounds at Lake Michigamme has been completed by the dean, Rev. Harry Colenso of Gladstone, and show the attractions this year to be of a high order.

The new pavement constructed this year on U. S. 41 west of Champion passes through the institute grounds. The entrance gates have been relocated and the roads put into first class condition. The large buildings and the faculty cottages have been repainted and other improvements made. All is now in readiness for the arrival of the delegates and visitors.

Dr. W. E. J. Gratz, editor of the Epworth Herald, Chicago, has been secured as the preacher both morning and afternoon on Sunday, August 2. On Sunday, August 9, Dr. Howard A. Musser, formerly a missionary in India, will preach at the morning service and in the afternoon Rev. George W. Olmstead, the founder of Michigamme, will return from Detroit to preach at three o'clock. Other speakers who appear on the program are Professor S. J. Harrison of Albion college, Dr. W. J. Shattuck of Philadelphia, Judge Louis N. Fead of Lansing and Miss Cynthia Lord of the Chicago Training School.

The morning hours will be devoted to class work by the delegates, instruction being given in Bible Study, Missions, League Methods, Evangelism, Stewardship and Nature Study. In the afternoons there will be a program of recreational activities under the direction of Rev. William Lovejoy. In the evenings there will be a number of entertaining and instructive programs, the principal one being a lecture by Judge Fead of the state supreme court, which will be given on Thursday evening, August 6.

The singing will again be directed by Professor Harold Clase, of Ashley, Ohio, with Mrs. Clase presiding at the piano.

The dormitories will be in charge of the Rev. William Gombellack and the Rev. William H. Hughes will be the dining room manager.

Rev. Joseph Dutton, district superintendent, is the president of the Institute council.

Drivers Blameless In Local Accidents

No inquest will be held in the death of Gerald Beauchamp, 6, Escanaba police said yesterday, following an investigation of the accident in which the boy was struck by a car driven by Eli Ranta 627 North 16th street. The motorist was found to be blameless for the fatality, and was traveling at a moderate rate of speed, the officers learned.

Another accident in which Peter Hirn, 10, was struck by a car driven by Mrs. A. A. Houle was also investigated. The boy was reported as recovering yesterday at St. Francis hospital and will probably be taken home today. Mrs. Houle was driving slowly and sounded her horn, pulling over to the curb, and the boy stepped back toward the same curb, directly in the path of the car, the police reported.

Homes Are Sought For Farm Youths

Homes for orphaned boys and girls are urgently needed at the present time by the Good Will Farm at Houghton, according to Miss Sylvia Reil, social worker for the institution, who is in Escanaba this week in the interests of the farm.

Miss Reil is also soliciting funds for the farm, although she states that homes are as badly needed as funds, due to the fact that more children are coming in constantly, and places must be found for some of the older children able to work in order to make room for new arrivals. Farm homes are especially desirable for boys from the Good Will Farm, and Miss Reil is hoping to place some of the young people in this vicinity during her visit here. Children are also available for adoption. Miss Reil is staying at the Ludington hotel, and asked to be notified of any prospects for securing farm homes or other places for boys and girls in this community.

He is financed by the Associated Films Producers and Dr. Thompson's health farm. With all the restrictions imposed he looks well and healthy, but says it is sometimes hard to observe all the restrictions and avoid talking to the opposite sex, who, no doubt, worry him more than negotiating a grade like the Wetmore hill and skating on a gravel road from here to Newberry.

B. & P. W. CLUB HOLDS PICNIC

More Than 40 Attend Affair at Pioneer Trail Park

One of the most enjoyable outings ever sponsored by a group of women was the annual picnic of the Business and Professional Women's club of Escanaba which was held last evening at Pioneer Trail Park.

Thirty-two members of the club and a number of guests gathered there shortly after business hours and enjoyed a most delicious pot luck supper. The committee in charge, Alice Reau, chairman, assisted by Caroline Heidenrich Nystrom and Alice Kvam are deserving of much credit for the planning of the meal and other arrangements.

After supper one group pitched horseshoes and the high light of the game was the sensational scores of Ferne Fontana and Katherine Wicking, who defeated Grace McColl and Hannah Anderson. Misses Fontana and Wicking scored 54 and 53 while the Misses McColl and Anderson scored 51 and 49. The game drew a large number of spectators and the applause given the winners was overwhelming.

Another feature of the evening's program was the baseball game between the Fats and the Leans. Caroline H. Nystrom was captain of the Leans and chose such players as Alice Kvam, Alice Robbins, Caroline Lindsley, Dympna Stoik Richter, Alice Monson, Ethel Gilmore as pitcher and Viola Krutch as catcher.

Adrienne Tousignant, captain of the Fats, had on her team Lillian Reynolds, Elizabeth Gilmore, Louise LaCombe, Isabel Cass as pitcher, Josephine Ryan, Katherine Ryan, catcher, Frances Allen and Agnes Chandonet.

After charges and counter charges of bribing the umpire, the Leans walked off with the heavy end of the 26 to 4 count.

Mrs. Gabriel Tolan, Milwaukee, Mrs. Rose Wiltse, Milwaukee, Mrs. Dympna Stoik Richter, Minneapolis, Miss Alice Robbins, Wells, Minn., Mrs. Ida Gelzer, Miss Ferne Fontana, Miss Katherine Wicking, Miss Katherine Ryan, all of this city, were the guests of the club.

Escanaba Rangers Play Soo Bears In Opener On Sept. 6

With the signing of the season's opener against the Soo Bears here on September 6, the Escanaba Athletic Association began active preparation for the Rangers football season yesterday.

The Bears will make their third appearance in Escanaba when they play here next fall, to start the Rangers off for the fall season. They played here in 1929 and 1930, the Rangers winning the first 6 to 0. The teams played to a scoreless deadlock last year. The Rangers lost to the Bears at the Soo in 1929 by a score of 12 to 0.

Because of their location the Bears are not playing in the peninsula league, they are, however, considered one of the most colorful teams of the northern peninsula.

Sydney Aero Club Grows

Because of the great growth in its membership the New South Wales Aero club has threatened to move its airplanes and activities from the airport at Sydney unless it is improved and enlarged. In the last three years the number of members has increased from 60 to 800. If the appeal to the Australian government for better quarters is not successful the club says it will construct its own private aerodrome and club house.

EDITORIAL

FOR THE 'UNDER DOG'

GIVING workers their due is the surest way to permanent prosperity, according to George F. Johnson, chairman of the board of the Endicott-Johnson Corporation, in commenting on the recent court decision involving $36,000,000 paid to steel corporation executives as bonuses.

"My theory is that when executives have had a salary sufficient to pay them for their labor, and when stockholders have had interest in the shape of dividends sufficient to pay them for the risk of their capital, that the surplus profits, if any, should be divided between those who take the risk, the common stockholders, and those who do the work, the laborers," says Mr. Johnson.

"I believe that this kind of division would bring about and maintain the prosperity that we all profess to desire. It would give the working people the purchasing power which they now lack. It would be more desirable than to split huge profits with a few executives and stockholders, who frequently squander it in Europe where it is of no use to the American people."

Mr. Johnson was not talking through his hat when he made this statement. That he has the interest of his 17,000 employees at heart has been fully demonstrated by his numerous humanitarian activities. Working his way up from the shoemaker's bench where he started fifty years ago, Mr. Johnson understands the viewpoint of the worker. He has given to his home communities more free libraries, hospitals, parks, playgrounds, golf courses, clubhouses and churches than are enjoyed by the average community.

Workers in his plants enjoy their work in attractive surroundings. Living conditions approach the ideal, largely as a result of the kind efforts of this outstanding employer. It is the splendid example set by such employers as Mr. Johnson that will effect marked improvements in living conditions among the industrial workers.

THE DANGER PERIOD

JULY and August are the months during which drowning accidents throughout the United States reach their peak, the National Safety Council warns. Hot weather, vacation trips, fishing and boating excursions are obviously responsible for the rising toll during this period.

The council suggests the following precautions as an aid to greater safety during the vacation season:

Learn to swim at a supervised pool or beach.

Don't overestimate your ability to swim long distances.

Don't "rock the boat" or change seats in a canoe while in deep water.

Should your boat capsize far from shore, hang on to the boat and shout for help. Don't try to swim to shore unless you are positive you can make it.

Don't go swimming alone.

Don't let children swim at unsupervised beaches.

Don't dive into water of unknown depth.

Learn prone pressure resuscitation--the most successful procedure a layman can know for saving the life of a person who has apparently drowned.

Escanabans are fortunate that a supervised bathing beach is provided for their enjoyment at Ludington park. The safety area has been marked off in front of the bathhouse, and an extra safeguard for the children is the shallow water section that has been fenced off. Escanaba parents should urge their children to swim only at the Ludington beach, where their safety is assured.

QUICK JUSTICE

TEN hours after he had shot and dangerously wounded a Sault Ste. Marie chain store manager during a robbery attempt, a 26-year-old Raco man was convicted for the offense and the following day he was lodged in the Marquette state prison.

That's swift and sure justice, and one of the most effective means of deterring crime. Peace-loving Chicagoans, who have become utterly disgusted over the repeated travesties on justice, undoubtedly would like to have a semblance of such action in their courts.

Wisconsin, too, has gained an enviable reputation for its prompt and effective operation of court machinery, a fact that is responsible for that state's low crime rate. Milwaukee, its largest city, is free of the gang evil that infests Chicago and other large cities.

Milwaukee has the lowest theft insurance rate of any city in the country. There are many reasons, but the chief one is that Milwaukee's citizens do not want organized crime, and their dislike of gang activities is enough to impel Milwaukeeans to drive them out. The police and the courts only reflect the temper of the citizenry, and that is: "No gangs, no crime."

THE SUGAR COMPANY

A DECREE was entered against the Menominee River Sugar company in circuit court at Menominee last week to permit the sale of its property to satisfy the mortgages securing a bond issue of $1,000,000 on the company's physical assets in Menominee, Green Bay and Menomonee Falls.

The Menominee River Sugar company at one time was one of the most thriving institutions in Menominee. It was organized in 1902 and built a million dollar sugar beet plant at Menominee which provided an outlet in sugar beets for thousands of farmers in Menominee county and its adjacent territory. The factory handled as many as 90,000 tons of beets, produced as much as 20,000,000 pounds of sugar in a season and paid more than a half million dollars annually to farmers. The factory also provided labor for hundreds of men during the fall season when it operated in three shifts.

Cheap sugar put the Menominee River Sugar company out of business, just as a changing world has put other businesses to the wall. The decree entered in circuit court at Menominee probably means the end of the Menominee River Sugar company. Unfortunately there is no hope in sight for restoration of the business. —Ironwood Globe.

"I'm just making the rounds," as the champ airly said, toying with a set-up.

The matinee idol of yesterday is, by virtue of the talkies, the matinee idle of today.

The nation's news these days seems to vacillate from "shot-down," to "shut-down."

PLEA TO TROOPS

On July 23, 1917, the executive council of the All-Russia Workmen's and Soldiers' and Peasants' organizations issued a proclamation to the Russian troops urging them to "save the fatherland." The proclamation read in part:

"Fellow soldiers: One of our armies has wavered, its regiments have fled before the enemy. Who is responsible for this humiliation? The responsibility rests with those who have spread discord in the army and shaken its discipline, with those who at a time of danger disobeyed the military commands and wasted time in fruitless discussions and disputes.

"Enough of words. The time has come to act without hesitation. We have acknowledged the provisional government. With the government lies the salvation of the revolution. We have acknowledged its unlimited authority and unlimited power. Its commands must be law.

"Fellow soldiers: You are being watched by those who work for Russia and by the whole world. The ruin of the Russian revolution spells ruin for all. Summon up all your manhood, your perseverance and sense of discipline and save the fatherland."

HEART of LIANE

(By NEA Service) By MABEL McELLIOTT

CHAPTER XXV

THE word went from mouth to mouth. "The Prince! The Prince is here!"

No one had been sure he was coming. The great Hunt ball had been an annual affair in Willow Springs since the first fur kings and railroad barons had built their Victorian palaces there back in the 'nineties. It was always a gala event even in the rarified atmosphere of that gilded township. That its date coincided with the visit of His Royal Highness was pure chance. No one had been certain he would actually be present. But here he was.

Liane, in a frothy frock of petal chiffon cut demurely low to show her young shoulders was staying close to the kindly Mrs. Cleespaugh. There was about this atmosphere something definitely intimidating. The clipped voices, the assured manners which were not manners at all but sublimated rudenesses, the massaged, scented and exquisitely dressed women frightened and chilled her. She thought, "Is it possible I am ever to enter this circle really as an intimate?" The idea vaguely terrified her.

Clive, at her elbow, said, "Dance this?"

She looked up at him, grateful for his nearness, for the sense of rightness and security his presence afforded her. As she gave herself, quite impersonally, to his embrace she thought that life would not be such a bad thing with this young man by her side. They threaded their way through the mazes of the music.

Clive's arm tightened around her. How well he danced! He said, "Sorry," and steered her deftly around a cruising pair, a plump matron in sea green velvet and her languid escort. Liane thought for an instant that the tightening of his arm had been an impulsive movement. Her pulse had quickened a little at the thought. With disappointment she realized he was only being instinctively gallant, trying to avoid a collision which had seemed imminent.

Strange, strange young man, she reflected. A little piqued she was that he had never tried to "make love" to her. Did he think her so unattractive? Well, she mustn't quarrel with her fate. He had asked her to marry him and she, for reasons of her own, had agreed.

The murmur ran along the line. "The Prince!" A discreet, polite murmur. And after an instant, in the suddenly cleared doorway, he appeared. A tall, very thin, rather supercilious looking young man with pale brown hair and a monocle glazing one of his sharp brown eyes. He was in a dress uniform of silver and blue.

* * *

THE orchestra in response to a hidden signal struck up the young notable's national air. He smiled. He clicked his heels and bowed from the waist. Liane heard the plump, green velveted matron murmur "Adorable!" in swooning accents. The Prince put out his arm to one of the ladies in his party and the dance began again as suddenly as it had stopped.

"Getting tired?" Clive wanted to know. Liane shook her head. She danced dreamily, casually. The throb of the music was in her blood. It was like an enchantment. Abruptly she felt her partner's arm about her loosen. She looked up into the grinning face of Chuck Desmond, who had said "Cut?" to Clive.

"You!" she gasped, startled.

"The kid himself," Desmond acknowledged. "I crashed this party with His Nibs. Used to be a correspondent in Slavaria when his father was in power. He makes me drag along wherever he goes and the boss doesn't mind. It gives me the inside track."

"It's nice to see you," Liane told him. And indeed this young man whom Muriel had once described as "devastating" seemed more than ever like a friend and brother tonight.

"You're pretty easy on the eye yourself, Lovely," he told her admiringly. "Nice doodabs you're sporting."

Liane looked down at the pearls on her throat. "They are," she agreed. "They've been in my fiance's family for years. They're so precious I'm afraid to wear them, really, but he wanted me to tonight."

"So you're joining up with the Junior Leaguers," Chuck Desmond murmured. "How d'you think you'll like it?"

Liane flushed and looked away. She said "Tell me about the Prince. What's he really like?"

Chuck Desmond said shrewdly, "I didn't mean to butt in. Sorry. Well, he's a swell guy but not at a racket like this. Too ha-cha-cha. He's on parade. Can't be himself."

Desmond said "Cherry-ho" as Clive, somewhat stiffly, cut in again.

"Known that fellow long?" Clive asked in a voice just a shade too casual.

"I met him at the theatre last summer," Liane explained. "He's nice. Lot of fun."

Clive said "Hum" in a noncommittal manner. Liane almost giggled. She had never before seen him give an impersonation of the protective male.

She was sitting in the Cleespaugh box a few moments later when Desmond and that resplendent figure appeared in the doorway.

"His Highness wishes to be presented ot mademoiselle," muttered the newspaper man, an audacious gleam in his eye. Clive had risen, stood glowering.

But Mrs. Cleespaugh was plainly delighted. Great lady that she was, she found room in her heart to defer to royalty.

"Ma'mselle honors me with this dance?" the Prince inquired after the formalities had been completed.

* * *

LIANE went down the long stairway with her gloved fingers resting lightly on the arm of that sky blue jacket. She passed Tressa who favored her with a cool, interested stare. Tressa was sinuous and lovely in black.

She thought childishly that it would be nice if Van Robard might be there to see her dancing with the Prince. Make him sorry—Sorry for what?

All this seemed the veriest fabric of a dream. The room, the shimmering fabrics, the music, the scent of rare perfumes. Most unreal of all seemed Liane herself, an insubstantial figure in pale rose gossamer, treading the measure with a prince of the blood. "In half a minute," she thought, "I'll wake up to find myself on the folding bed in the apartment, reaching for the alarm clock and dashing to get breakfast."

His Highness said, "Mademoiselle waltzes as if on air."

Liane smiled up at him. "It is my partner who dances well," she returned.

She thought, I'm Cinderella. What if the clock strikes 12?

They danced into a little covert of chrysanthemums and silken hangings. "Rest?" her escort asked. "One grows fatigued?"

"Not at all," Liane assured him. But already he was drawing out a little gilt chair, offering her a cigaret.

"Mademoiselle does not wish? But how refreshing!" He marveled at her. "Ah, this is pleasant."

They were a little withdrawn from the ballroom. The music came to them faintly muted. Liane thought of Clive whose blue eyes would search the dancers for her in vain.

The Prince lifted a curtain which concealed a little door. "This leads to the balcony," he said softly. "Let us find ourselves some air. I perish here."

The little winding stair indeed led to tiny gallery with French windows. "Ah, you are cold," mourned the prince, noting that Liane shivered. "Permit me. I go to get a cloak."

Liane by this time was beginning to find His Highness just a shade too notional but she hardly knew how to extricate herself from the situation. "I'll wait," she agreed.

The Prince hurried off. He was not gone more than three minutes at the most. When he returned the staircase was empty. The little gilt chair had been overturned. One of the gardenias which the girl had worn on her shoulder lay crumpled, a shred of flesh colored chiffon clinging to it.

At the very foot of the stairs lay the most tell-tale clue of all—a tiny silver slipper.

The Prince hurried to the Cleespaugh box.

"Mademoiselle—" he gasped, his eyes searching the group. "She has gone! Of a surety violence has been done!"

Clive said, "What's that?" sharply, angrily.

His Highness, Hugo of Slavoria, gesticulated wildly. "Of a certainty, as I said, Mademoiselle has vanished! Only her slipper remains where I left her at the foot of the stairs."

CLIVE swore once, roundly and fiercely, and began to run. In his train followed quickly the Prince, Chuck Desmond and half a dozen other young men. Tressa who had been sitting at Mrs. Cleespaugh's side tried to soothe that agitated lady.

"It's nothing," she said in her cool, amused tone. "No doubt she's flirting with someone on the terrace. These men get excited over nothing at all."

Mrs. Cleespaugh bridled angrily. "I fear you are not thinking what you say, Tressa," she admonished.

Tressa bit her lip. "Sorry. I was just trying to cheer you," she said lightly. "Clive will find her. Don't worry."

Little groups began to gather at the end of the ballroom. The orchestra leader lifted an authoritative baton and a great crashing of jazz ensued. Most of the dancers, thus assured, joined in the fox trot.

Meantime Clive, after a frantic questioning of a sleepy footman or two, elicited the information that an unrecognized car had left the ranks a few moments before driving (the man thought) west. He was not positive of the direction.

"And it's a dry, clear night. Not a chance of ruts or tracks," muttered Clive. The Prince's car was being brought around. With two men on the box, it was an imposing vehicle of slate gray and chromium plate. His Highness sprang within, beckoning Chuck Desmond to follow.

"You chaps go along," Clive said. "I'm driving my own car." He felt he could not bear to be shut up with this stupid young man who had left Liane alone and unguarded at the mercy of the unseen enemy.

Clive sprang into his own car and wheeled it around. Picking up speed it soon passed the big motor with the London license plate.

"Though where I'm going exactly I don't know," the young man admitted to himself, setting his jaws ominously. "Only—well, there may be a few necks broken tonight in this business!"

At the first gas station he drew up with an unholy screech of brakes.

"See anything of a dark blue sedan with Jersey plates?" he wanted to know. The club attendant noted that much about the ghost car.

The man in jeans shook his head slowly. "Been inside," he returned. "'S late. I was catching a nap. You in trouble?"

Chuck said shortly. "We're after some fellows. Heard they went this way."

LYRICS OF LIFE

By Douglas Malloch

(Copyright 1931 by Douglas Malloch)

I WILL

Few things are done because we can,
Or not because we can't,
To will is something greater than
To wish, to only want.
We do not lose because the day
Was dark, or high the hill;
We do not win because we may,
We win because we will.

Men lose who might have won success,
Who "couldn't", yet they could.
Men win who nothing more possess
Than hope and hardihood.
Because they can't men do not lose,
Because they can achieve;
The winners win because they choose,
And nothing else believe.

Who thinks that he can fail has failed
Before he makes a start,
But "can't" has never yet prevailed
Against a dauntless heart.
The man who "can" may be too sure,
Who "can't" is weaker still,
But no misfortune can endure
Before the man who "will".

MICHIGAN GAS SUPPLY GROWS

Mt. Pleasant Area Proves Fertile Field for Development

The development of natural gas resources in the Mt. Pleasant district of central Michigan now little more than a year old, is making rapid strides, despite a general industrial depression. Three fields have been opened up and a $350,000 pipe line, 43 miles long, is now being constructed.

Figures given by the geological survey division of the department of conservation show the three fields in the Isabella-Clare district with 16 completed gas wells having an aggregate daily production capacity of approximately 49,000,000 cubic feet.

Market Growing

The first of the three fields, in Broomfield township 12 miles west of Mt. Pleasant was opened in February 1930, with completion of the first well. There are now seven completed wells having a combined daily capacity of 30,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas. The field includes about 3,000 acres, the largest well capable of producing of from nine to ten million cubic feet a day. Until recently there was practically no market for the gas. Now the Consumers Power company is building a 43 mile long eight-inch line from the field to Midland. The line is expected to be completed within the next two months.

A second gas field is in Vernon township, eight miles north of Mt. Pleasant. This field, having an area of about 1,500 acres has five completed wells and one more is being drilled. This field now has an approximate daily capacity of 13,000,000 cubic feet.

High Heat Value

The third field, seven miles northwest of Clare has four completed wells with a capacity of about 6,000,000 cubic feet of gas a day. Practically all of the wells in these fields run from 1,300 to 1,400 feet in depth.

For some time natural gas has been used on a small scale in Michigan. Short pipe lines run into Muskegon, but the supply is becoming exhausted. Other small wells have been producing near St. Clair, Manistee, Ashley and in the southeastern part of the state. However, the Isabella-Claire fields are the first large producers in central Michigan and the pipe line being run into Midland represents the first large utilization of Michigan produced natural gas from that area.

There is every indication, according to the geological survey office that the three fields in the Isabella and Clare districts represent but a portion of the natural gas capabilities of that region.

The natural gas now being produced is of a high quality, having approximately twice the heating capacity of artificial gas.

Argyle Congregational church at Bath, is the first church in England to have radio installed, and the building will be open daily for those who wish to hear the services broadcast from Daventry.

Jumps from Window As Residence Burns

The home of Mrs. Mitchel King at Flat Rock, was completely destroyed by fire Sunday afternoon between 5 and 6 o'clock. A kerosene stove, in the kitchen, exploded and the flames spread so rapidly that every article of furniture, clothing and household goods was destroyed.

Mrs. King ran to the upper story of the building in an effort to carry out the clothing of her three sons and a sum of money which was kept in the bed room but as she turned to descend the stairway the flames cut off all means of escape. Mrs. King who is past 60 years of age, jumped from the second story window and suffered a badly bruised arm.

Clyde Lancour, who tried to save furniture from the burning building was badly burned about the arms and hands.

A small amount of insurance was carried on the home and furniture. The family is now living in the garage until a small home can be built.

C. M. T. C. Visitors' Day On August 1

New seventeen-passenger airplanes will cut the regular London-Paris flying time to less than two hours.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT

Nancy Carroll, who is at the Delft Theatre today and Friday in "The Night Angel," is a stranger to Hollywood.

Or at least so it would seem by a glance at the recent work of the red-haired beauty of Paramount pictures.

This adorable little star who first gained fame in the Hollywood-made "Abie's Irish Rose" and continued her successful career in "Honey," "Sweetie" "The Devil's Holiday" and others, hasn't been in Hollywood for picture work in many months.

Her last three films were made in Paramount's New York studio. They are "Laughter," with Fredric March; "Stolen Heaven" with Phillips Holmes; and "The Night Angel" an Edmund Goulding production, again with the handsome Fredric.

St. Francis Hospital

Mrs. George Lewis of Harris, who fractured the cervical vertabrae several days ago when she fell from a load of hay at her farm home, is reported to be improving favorably.

Manning Oberg of Gladstone submitted to a surgical operation Wednesday.

Patients who have been dismissed are: Mitchell Derouin, Mrs. Delima LaMotte, Mrs. R. E. Allingham, Mrs. Nels Lagerquist, Mrs. Arthur Reamer, Mrs. Julia Petrovich, Mrs. Louis Burcar and Mrs. Leonard Nelson.

The new Humidor Pack of moisture-proof Cellophane seals in all the natural factory-freshness—seals it in so tightly that wet weather cannot make Camels damp, nor drought weather make them dry.

When you open your package of Camels, don't remove the Cellophane wrapper. Keep it on until you have smoked the last cigarette. It's put there for your protection.

Do your throat a favor, try Camels for just one day. Once you've compared their cool, smooth enjoyment with the brackish, stale taste of cigarettes packed the old way, leave them—if you can.

Dress Typifying Mrs. Hoover Will Be Added to Group

BY BESS FURMAN

Washington (AP)—A niche where her fame will be all her own forever awaits Mrs. Herbert Hoover.

It is in the glass show case section of the Smithsonian institution, where visitors cluster close to that most popular of historic collections—the gowns of the mistresses of the White House.

Not as the wives of their famous husbands but each in her honored role of White House hostess as typified by the gown actually worn at some state function, they appear, complete from Martha Washington to Grace Coolidge.

"Where is Mrs. Hoover?" is the question most often asked, and museum scientists, anxious to please the tourists, have been trying to prevail on Mrs. Hoover to permit her dress to be shown while she still is mistress of the White House.

Grace Coolidge was persuaded to change hers recently because visitors complained that the simple, severe white satin gown with long skirt "didn't look like Mrs. Coolidge."

They thought of her as the colorful White House hostess of the short-skirted period, and now she appears in American Beauty chiffon velvet short enough to show slim ankles.

Mrs. Hoover's figure already has been made by William H. Egberts, anthropologist, whose facile fingers have constructed half the collection.

Her dress has been selected by Mrs. Rose Gouverneur Hoes, great-granddaughter of President James Monroe, moving spirit behind the unusual collection. But Mrs. Hoover has not yet given permission for the figure to take its place in the collection.

Faces on all the figures are the same, a modeling of King Lear's daughter. Thus is attention centered on the gown. But all the coiffures are authentic. Thus each face, in its individualistic framing, takes on the personality of its own period. The silver coiffure of Lou Henry Hoover is ideally adapted to plastic modeling.

Five former presidents' widows survive to see themselves in their own niches of fame, perpetuated in the dresses they once wore.

They are Mrs. Mary Lord Harrison of New York, Mrs. Frances F. Cleveland Preston of Princeton, N. J., Mrs. Edith Carow Roosevelt of Oyster Bay, N. Y., Mrs. Edith Bolling Wilson and Mrs. Helen H. Taft of Washington, D. C.

Baby's Summer Travel Best In Basket Berth

Washington, (AP)—"This little baby went to market" is the paraphrase the U. S. Children's Bureau is making on the old nursery rhyme.

Only, the baby doesn't go to market. He goes to the woods, the mountains or the seashore, at ease in a good old-fashioned market basket.

His mother my be listed in the social register or at some employment agency. It matters not. The correct summer mode of travel for the baby as advocated by bureau experts is the same.

"A market basket is much more comfortable for the baby than mother's arms," the bureau says, "and more convenient for the mother. The basket should have a handle low enough to hold the baby safely inside.

"It should be arranged like a bed with a thin mattress, rubber sheeting, blanket and, if desired, a sleeping bag. A cotton mosquito netting should be brought along to cover the basket. A young baby should stay in the basket throughout the journey except when it is time for feeding, bathing, changing the clothing or exercise."

The bureau advocates a small hammock for baby on an automobile trip. If on a picnic, he can be transferred to the basket from his car-hammock.

Baby should go bare-footed on a long, hot journey in summer, the bureau advises, and dressed only in a band, a diaper and a thin, short-sleeved, low-necked dress or slip.

Cooler clothing should be at hand in case the temperature drops suddenly.

Women Barred from London "Temple"

London (AP)—With their backs to the wall, English men are fighting a grim battle with women to prevent being completely dispossessed.

Having been crowded out of barber shops by women; replaced by women in varying branches of industry; ministered to by women either in restaurants or public houses, London men are making their last valiant stand in The Temple, internationally known headquarters here for the law fraternity.

Women waitresses will positively not be allowed in the Temple restaurant. The general council's annual report makes this plain.

'Twas necessary to have as much quiet as possible in the reading room lounge and in the restaurant, solicitors said.

Miss Hauber Sees Upper Peninsula For First Time

Miss Margaret Hauber, secretary to Congressman Frank P. Bohn, is paying her first visit to a district of which she has known the cross road villages and cities and the names of political leaders, through handling Dr. Bohn's correspondence, for four years.

A native of the city of Washington, this is her first visit to the northwest and to the friends of Congressman Bohn, whose names have been familiar to her for years and whom she is now meeting in person, her enthusiasm over this section is genuinely impressive.

Miss Hauber is recognized in Washington as one of the most efficient congressional secretaries in the service and her wide acquaintanceship among department heads and personnel, has proven an invaluable aid to Congressman Bohn in his work at the captial.

Stream Named "Peggy."

Miss Hauber is known among her personal friends as "Peggy" and an upper peninsula stream, formerly unnamed, has been christened "Peggy Creek," because a group of Newberry fishermen, seeking trout to provide a fish dinner for Miss Hauber when she arrived at Newberry, were able to make a handsome catch from a hole in this before unheralded stream.

REV. ERICKSON TO LEAVE CITY

Will Deliver Farewell Sermon Sunday; Had Been Here 3 Years

Rev. William Erickson, pastor of the Free Methodist church, will deliver his farewell sermon here Sunday evening and Monday will leave for the annual Northern Michigan camp meeting and conference which will be held at Manton, Mich., from July 28 to August 8, where he will receive another appointment.

Rev. Erickson has served the local congregation for the past three years, the maximum amount of time allowed by the rules of the church for a pastor to reside in a community. During Rev. Erickson's residence here, he has made for himself an enviable record and the congregation sincerely regrets his departure.

The local pastor came here three years ago from Cadillac where he also served for three one year terms. He has been in the ministry for ten years.

The camp meeting will begin on Tuesday, July 28, and the conference will commence on August 4. Appointments for the ensuing year will be made on the final day, August 8. Mrs. Erickson and three children, Eleanor, Ruby and William, Jr., will accompany Rev. Erickson to Manton.

Fords Win from Indees; Nortons Lambast Coals

Taking advantage of numerous fielding misplays and pounding the offerings of Milo Jones to every corner of the lot, the Creighton Fords awoke from their batting lethargy long enough to plaster a 17-4 defeat on the Independents Tuesday evening.

The Fords took no chances of losing the contest when they opened up a six hit barrage in the first inning which was good for five runs. They kept up their rampage in every inning except the fourth and fifth to net them a total of 17 runs while Walt Dreydahl had the Indees at his mercy in every frame except the fourth when the latter collected a trio of tallies.

Bill Cook was the batting star for the Fords, collecting five hits in five trips to the plate for a perfect average. Rodman and Stewart, with two safeties apiece, were the stars on offense for the Indees. Batteries were Dreydahl and Cook for the winners and Milo Jones and Joe Brunet for the losers.

Nortons Win

In the other contest, the Coffey Coals took another one on the chin when they lost to the league leading Norton Specials by a score of 12-5. The Coals provided little opposition for their stronger opponents in a game which after the first inning left little doubt as to the victor.

Batteries were Eldon Norton and Weber for the Nortons and Fiabernitz and Marin for the Coals.

Tonight will see the two leading teams of the circuit hook-up in what is predicted to be a great hurling duel between Jack Williams and Eldon Walker. The outcome will have a vital effect upon the league standings. The Nortons will have a chance to increase their lead to two games while a win for the Centrals will bring about a tie for first place.

Rocque Gagner, Rhinelander, Wis., Baxter Bashaw and H. Beal, Detroit, have returned to their respective homes after spending a vacation at the Irene Davis cottage, Indian lake.

TWILIGHT LOOP IS REORGANIZED

Seven Golf Teams Ready To Start Second Half Next Week

Considerable interest is being manifested in the twi-light golf league and ten additional names were added to the leagues roster. The schedule for the second half will start with the coming week, and teams have been somwhat rearranged to make the competition even more keen than in the first section. Five of the teams will start out evenly balanced, and the other three teams will have a one point difference.

All postponed matches of the first schedule are being played off this week, and the Yanks have the edge on Jim Wood's Tigers by a scant one game margin. Prizes will be awarded to the winning teams next week as outlind in the regulations.

Five men will comprise each team in the new schedule, one member dropping out in each series, but will be eligible to fill in as a substitute by giving the opposing team the difference in strokes. This will eliminate to a great extent the necessity of postponing games. The new schedule as well as the list of teams has been posted on the bulletin board at the club house for the members guidance.

Barnyard Golf Meet Progresses Rapidly

Play in the senior barnyard golf tourney being conducted at the playgrounds is progressing rapidly, and Director Hagie Quarnstrom reported yesterday that all of the second round matches have been run off.

Among those advancing to the third round are Nelson, W. Goodman, Sword, C. Goodman, Nyberg, Van Dale and Richardson. The last named has had a tough time keeping in the running, having played two tie games, winning both in the playoffs.

Sherman Sword, Jr., set a new high score for tournament play, scoring 55 points to break his own record of 51. C. Goodman is second with 46 and his brother, Wilbert, is third with 45. This is exceptionally good pitching considering that only 25 inning games are being played.

Convict Makes Unique Clock

Having every part, even to the smallest wheel, composed of wood, a clock has been constructed by a convict in Europe who recently completed a 20 year sentence. It is built into a cupboard, runs without human supervision, and contains 30 watches which show simultaneously the correct time in the 30 largest cities of the world. Another watch in it shows the movements of the sun, moon and stars. A barometer predicts the weather. A calendar marks the passings of the days, weeks and months, overcoming, unaided, the irregularities of leap year.

Industrial Pioneer

For over fifty years during his lifetime, Mr. Slining was prominently identified with the Lake Superior iron mining and blast furnace industries, first with the Jackson Iron company and later with the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company. During his professional career he was recognized as one of the outstanding engineers of the country, and he was a pioneer in the development of the wood alcohol and modern blast furnace industries.

He was born in Chicago, June 18, 1857, and as a young man came north to the upper peninsula. He remained in charge until its closure in 1924. In 1901-02 in association with the late Mr. Farrell he built the Pioneer furnace at Marquette, the operation of which he was connected with until his retirement in 1926.

Mr. Slining was one of the organizers of the Gladstone State Savings Bank and served as vice-president of the institution from its organization until the time of his death. He was one of the organizers of the Gladstone Rotary Club and one of its charter members.

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, July 22. (AP)—The security markets reacted today despite the reassuring official statements on the London conference.

Stocks, which had been creeping higher for nearly a week, turned heavy with a volume of only 995,430 shares and the German bond list suffered some rather wide breaks. Weakness of sterling exchange stood out among the day's developments. Grain quotations were about steady but cotton took a tumble.

U. S. Steel Leads Mart.

Some disturbance may have been caused by Wall Street reports that the German political situation was becoming more trying, presumably as a result of a belief that the best to be hoped from the London meeting was an extension of existing credits and a decision in favor of leaving such accomodations undisturbed.

U. S. Steel was clearly the market leader. At its low, 93 7-8, the issue was down 3 3-8 and it barely managed to close above the bottom for a new loss of 3 1-8. American Can and Auburn Auto retreated 4 points each, while Bethlehem, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse, American Telephone, International Telephone, Consolidated Gas, American & Foreign Power, New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio and Case were down 2 to 3 5-8. General Motors, whose report was published after the close, lost nearly a point. The $1.22 per share for the second quarter was closely in line with earlier estimates.

The Bank of England's gold losses to continental Europe were in the neighborhood of $15,000,000, bringing the total drain of the past week to not far from $100,000,000. This again brings up the question of whether the bank will act to stop the flow by raising the discount rate, but London dispatches did not seem to think this tip would be taken tomorrow. Sterling cables here closed at $4.84 1-16, a new loss of three quarters of a cent. The French franc, on the other hand was strong.

Final wheat quotations represented a net loss of 1-8 cent on all months. Corn was mixed, with July 5-8 higher and September and December half a cent lower.

CHICAGO PRICES

CHICAGO LARD.
Chicago, July 22.—Cash lard 7.75.

CHICAGO POTATOES.
Chicago, July 22.—Potatoes 135, on track 334, total U. S. shipments 590; weak, trading very slow; sacked per cwt., Missouri Cobblers 1.00 to 1.10; Kansas 95 to 1.05; poor stock lower; Louisiana Triumphs 1.50 to 1.60; east shore Virginia bbl. Cobblers 2.25 to 2.50.

CHICAGO BUTTER.
Chicago, July 22.—Butter prices were steady on ten scores today and easy on the lower grades.
Fresh: 93 score 24½ to 25; 92, 24; 91 23½; 90, 22 3-4; 89, 22¼; 88, 21½; 87, 20¾.
Centralized carlots: 90 score 24¼; 89, 23; 88, 21½.

CHICAGO EGGS.
Chicago, July 22.—Eggs 9,024; steady; prices unchanged.

CHICAGO GRAIN.
Chicago, July 22.—Offsets to discouraging reports of developments at the international financial conference rallied wheat prices late today, and overcame early downturns. The offsets included bullish crop news from spring wheat sections both sides of the Canadian line, South Dakota in particular. Moreover, indications pointed to larger export business in United States wheat than had been acknowledged, and the total receipts of new winter wheat dropped to 2,100 cars, about one-third of what they were at the peak of the harvest movement.

Wheat closed steady at the same as yesterday's finish to ¼ cent off, corn varying from ½ decline to 5-8 advance, oats 1-8 to 3-8 down, and provisions unchanged to 12 cents setback.

Scarcity of July offerings was a feature in the corn pit, where a large operator was buying July and selling deferred deliveries. Forecasts of cooler unsettled weather over parts of the west tended to relieve anxiety as to likelihood of a new hot wave. Acute need of moisture in many corn areas, however, was noted. Oats eased with corn, despite Illinois reports of hot weather damage to oats.

Provisions lacked aggressive support.

Closing indemnities: Wheat July 54 9-4 offers; Sept. 53¼ to 5-8, 54¼ to 8-8; Dec. 57 5-8 to 8-4, 58¼.

Corn July 57, 59 5-8; Sept. 50 7-8 to 51, 52¼; Dec. 44 3-8 to ½, 45¼ to 3-8.

Operations of incendiaries at Christchurch, N. Z., have caused almost a reign of terror there, particularly in the business district. In three weeks there were 12 suspicious fires, which caused damage totaling more than $250,000. Complaints have been made that the police force is inadequate, and a strengthening of the detective force has been ur-

Work On Sewers Is Progressing Rapidly

Newberry, July 22 (Special)—Good progress is now being made on the new sewer being laid from the Tahquamenon to the village of Newberry under the direction of Engineer Ted Anderson. A crew of 25 men, all with families to support, are working on the big ditch which is at present going through the heaviest digging and the deepest that will be found the entire length. The soil is heavy clay and requires hard work.

Undertaken at this time in order to give employment to Newberry workers, the new sewer is replacing one which for the past decade has been too small. The project is being financed with funds in a saving account built up from profits from the local water and light plant. The old sewer tile will be reclaimed and used for extension to the eastern side of the village.

The new sewer runs close to the ground on which it is proposed to locate some sort of a disposal plant when means for its construction, and the times warrant it.

PAID FINE

James Palmiter of Detroit paid a fine of $25 plus $7.20 costs when he pleaded guilty to having a rifle in a deer area. He was arrested when the gun was found in his possession on the East Branch of the Two Heart by conservation officers. Besides the fine he lost his gun.

MOONLIGHT EXCURSION

A new thing in entertainment is being planned by the Tahquamenon Transportation company when, beginning Saturday, July 18, they run the first of a series of moonlight trips down the famous river. The "Betty B" with the big flat boat is being equipped with electric lights and otherwise fitted for these events. Music will be furnished by a radio with a loud speaker for the dancing on the main deck. Joe Beach wants it to be known that there will be no lights on the upper decks excepting what is furnished by the moon.

That friendly planet is due to come up about eleven and, as the boats leave the Hunter landing at 8:30, there will be the lovely twilight hour on the stream. The trip will be to the island and return, giving four or five hours of pleasure.

NEWBERRY BRIEFS

Mrs. Olaf Johnson and sister, Mrs. Gustafson of Duluth are visiting with William C. Johnson at Iron Mountain.

Victor Wilson, injured when he leaped from the burning cupolo at the Newberry Lumber and Chemical company's plant a week ago has recovered so that he was able to leave the hospital on Tuesday. A small bone in his foot was fractured when he jumped 22 feet to the roof.

Miss Minnie Cola and W. C. Johnson of Iron Mountain and Miss Maggie Cole of Detroit were guests at the Olaf Johnson home for a few days.

Bart Saxby with wife and son Bill are in Newberry on their annual fishing trip, coming here from Marysville, Ohio. They are camped in the village park.

MR. GEHRETT PASSES

After being ill for more than a week at the local hospital C. F. Gehrett of Curtis passed away at seven o'clock on July 21. He was operated for appendicitis by a Bay City physician but because of his age and general condition was unable to rally. The funeral will take place on July 23 probably here.

MISSION HELD

Members of the Swedish Lutheran church held their annual district mission at Newberry on Tuesday evening with several out of town speakers. The Rev. S. P. Holmberg, local pastor, presided. Dr. Bostrom, Marquette pastor, the Rev. Mattson of Ishpeming gave talks on various aspects of the Christian life and two student pastors, Mr. Bork of the Sault and Cedarville and Rev. Wahlin of St. Ignace and Bevort also had a part in the speaking program.

New York, July 22. (AP)—Sharp reactions in many foreign issues and an easier tone to second grade domestic rails pulled the bond market lower today.

German loans were soft, although turnovers were moderate in most instances, and there were also some sizeable declines in numerous Latin Americans, particularly the Argentines. British 5½s turned over rather briskly, rising ¼ net to 107¾.

In the domestic list attention was centered largely on the rails where gains recorded yesterday were generally lost.

Oil bonds led the generally steady industrials. Utilities were mostly firm, although a few issues sagged moderately. The United States government group was very dull and about unchanged.

Gradual Advance In Stocks Halted On Curb Market

New York, July 22. (AP)—Prices slumped in the curb market today, interrupting the gradual advance of the past five sessions, but trading was extraordinarily dull, the turnover of 220,000 shares showing a contraction of 20,000 from yesterday's.

Electric Bond and Share was rather heavily sold, declining 2 points to 38½, bringing it closely in line with the market value of its holding as reported for June.

Utility issues as a group were only moderately heavy. American Gas and Electric lost nearly 2 points, and American and Foreign Power Warrants, Brazilian Traction and United Light A lost about a point.

Considerable profit taking came into the oils. Vacuum and Solar Refining, recent strong spots, lost about a point each. Gulf lost as much, and Indiana yielded a minor fraction.

A strong feature in the industrials was Copeland Products, which added 5 points to yesterday's—4 point gain, getting into new high ground above 23. This erstwhile inconspicuous issue has sold as low as 8 this year.

Industrials were generally under pressure.

Phoning at 60 Miles an Hour

Telephoning from the Hamburg Berlin express trains in Germany is reported to be a success. Passengers may talk from a booth to any part of the country while traveling 60 miles an hour. All that is necessary is to give central the number and the name of the city desired. Connection is made by means of an aerial running along the roofs of the cars, from which ether waves are transmitted by electric current to the regular telegraph wires running parallel with the railway which carry the massage by way of Hamburg to Berlin.

Awarded High Military Post

The important Second Corps Area, with headquarters at Governor's Island, N. Y., will be commanded by Maj. Gen. Dennis E. Nolan, above. He has been designated to succeed Maj. Gen. Hanson E. Ely, retiring for age, on Dec. 1. One-time chief of the A. E. F. Intelligence Service, General Nolan now is the ranking Major General next to General Douglas MacArthur, Chief of Staff.

Mickey Walker Holds Sharkey to Draw Decision

TOY BULLDOG PROVES WORTH

Gob Forced to Rally in Closing Rounds to Get Even Break

BY ALAN GOULD,
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, N. Y., July 22 (AP)—Jack Sharkey, the erratic sailor man from Boston, adopted war-like measures a trifle too late tonight and was held to a draw by his under-sized but highly courageous opponent, Mickey Walker, in 15 indecisive rounds of rough-house battling.

Outfought for the first ten rounds by an opponent he figured to beat decisively, with every physical advantage in his favor, Sharkey was forced to put on a two-fisted drive in the last four rounds to get so much as an even break.

The outcome was distinctly an upset, for Sharkey crawled into the ring a three to one favorite to whip the chunky, barrel-chested New Jersey Irishman.

Walker spotted Sharkey exactly 20 pounds, plus big margins in height, reach and strength, but Mickey lashed and harrassed his bigger foe with a courageous determination that frequently had the sympathetic crowd of 35,000 fans in an uproar.

Sharkey's stronger finish, however, appeared sufficient to balance the scales that were tipping strongly against him and saved what little prestige there was left for the big Bostonian.

None of the three officials voted alike. Referee Arthur Donovan, who repeatedly warned Sharkey for hitting low blows and for otherwise using questionable tactics, cast his ballot for Walker. Of the two judges, George Kelly voted for Sharkey and Charles F. Mathison voted a draw.

On the Associated Press score sheet, seven rounds were scored for each of the fighters, with the remaining round registered as even, thereby offering further evidence of the closeness of the bout.

Walker, mainly on the strength of his bulldog aggressiveness, was conceded margins in the third, fourth, seventh, eighth, ninth, tenth and eleventh rounds. Sharkey was credited with taking the first, fifth, sixth, twelfth, thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth. The second was scored as even.

Sharkey's Blows Wild

Walker surprised even his most enthusiastic backers by the effectiveness with which he carried the fight to Sharkey throughout most of the first ten rounds. Except for a bad time in the fifth, when Mickey was clipped while off balance and bounced to the floor, then suffered a nasty gash over his left eye, the Irishman swarmed over Sharkey and scored repeatedly with short blows until he began to tire in the last few rounds.

Walker leaped inside Sharkey's leads, cuffed and clouted the Bostonian. Jack handled his smaller foe with comparative ease in the clinches but he was wild, especially with his right.

Not until the start of the twelfth round did Sharkey show anything like a sustained attack. Apparently realizing, for the first time, that he was in danger of taking a licking from a fighter he seemed to regard disdainfully at the outset, Sharkey finally cut loose with a show of punching power.

Throughout the last four rounds, Walker's left eye was a target for Sharkey's overhand rights and left jabs. The optic bled such a stream that Mickey's face was a crimson mask in the last two rounds, in addition to which his appearance was made more grotesque by a purple smear over his legs, due to the color dripping from his tights. Half-blinded though he was, Walker continued to fight back gamely, frequently driving Sharkey to the ropes with the fury of his rushes, while the crowd roared its partisan feelings.

Referee Warns Gob

Sharkey, with everything to lose by the way he fought, put up one of his uncertain performances and his heavyweight ambitions again sustained a blow. The Boston sailor not only was wild and unable to decide just how to cope with his persistent opponent but he was guilty of questionable tactics at several stages.

In at least three rounds, the fifth, eighth and fifteenth, Sharkey was warned by Referee Donovan for hitting low. Walker made no complaints, but the crowd booed lustily for him, especially when Sharkey let fly with a right uppercut in the eighth round that landed several inches below the belt line. It was reminiscent of the punch with which Sharkey lost on a foul to Max Schmeling a year ago.

Sharkey was warned for butting in the fifth round, when he came in, bull-like, and connected with the top of his head on Walker's chin.

The sailor's best punch was an overhand right, with which he jarred Walker occasionally but which he threw wildly more often than he connected. His chief gesture of defense appeared to be a firm grasp on Mickey's left elbow, while simultaneously burying his head on the Irishman's shoulder.

FIGHT BY ROUNDS

ROUND ONE—Sharkey jumped across the ring and drove a left hook to Walker's shoulder and then hugged the little fellow like a big mother bear, squeezing a cub to her body. He drove another left hook to Walker's head and barely missed a terrific right before jumping into another clinch. Walker flew at the big fellow, wailing both hands to the body and crossed his right to the chin. Sharkey grabbed him, stepped back then drove a short sharp right to the head as Mickey stormed in again. The little fellow bulleyed into a neutral corner and whaled at him with both hands. Sharkey jarred Walker into position and whipped his right flush to Walker's chin. Walker took it gamely and the bell stopped him charging back.

ROUND TWO—Sharkey shot two right hooks to the head and Walker wavered. He danced back and then hurled himself on the Boston heavyweight flinging both hands. The crowd roared at Mickey's courage as he crowded Sharkey whipping a neat left hook to the head driving in under the defensive, Mickey sunk a left hook into Sharkey's body but Jack caught him coming in again with a sharp right uppercut to the head. Sharkey missed a straight right to the chin and again Walker dug left and right into the body. Jack drove two hard rights to the ribs as Mickey sailed in again and they clinched. Sharkey chased Walker into the ropes with two left hooks to the head but Walker refused to be pushed around and he whipped his left into Jack's body as the gong rang.

ROUND THREE — Sharkey came out cooly, carefully jabbing with his left hand. Mickey promptly ducked and came up with a left to the sailor's body. Jack beat the little fellow along the ropes with both hands. Mickey tore back at him furiously, drove him into a corner with lefts and rights to the body, forcing Sharkey to break ground and hold. Sharkey dug a right into the body and they clinched but again Walker chased him to the ropes with a body attack and smashed Jack full on the chin with a straight right hand. Sharkey backed away cautiously and the crowd roared at the sight of the little man forcing his big adversary to cover. Sharkey bided his time and caught Walker coming in with a straight right to the head. As Mickey charged again Sharkey nailed him with a sharp short uppercut to the chin and Walker was slowing down at the bell.

ROUND FOUR—Sharkey boxed carefully but he missed with both hands as Walker ducked underneath his long arms. Sharkey tried to straighten Mickey up with jabs for his right cross to the chin but Mickey ducked and nailed the big fellow with a hard left hook to the body and a chopping right to the head. Mickey forced the battle making Sharkey miss and he slipped into close quarters to swap again with the sailor in a close body punching exchange. They clinched again and as Mickey came away he whipped a left hook to the chin and dropped his right into Sharkey's body. Mickey took a half dozen left jabs on the head before he wailed again into the sailor and they slugged furiously in a fierce exchange along the ropes as the crowd bellowed at the hot action. There were slight swellings under Sharkey's eyes as he pulled away at the bell.

ROUND FIVE—Sharkey came out carefully but he could not hit Walker. Walker bounced around and whipped his left to the head. A short right uppercut knocked Walker off his feet but he was up without a count. Mickey was caught off balance and was not hurt as he charged into Sharkey. The Sailor, punching with both hands, drove Mickey across the ring. Walker seemed to be fading and a right ripped a cut on his left eye brow. Sharkey was on top of him, gaining the upper hand steadily as he wailed at Walker along the ropes. Mickey took a pounding gamely and Sharkey seemed in no rush to try for a finishing punch.

ROUND SIX—Sharkey went to work as though he was boxing in a gymnasium, jabbing his left and crossing his right to Mickey's chin. Walker backed up, shooting his left to the body as he went after him feeding both hands to the head. Mickey rallied along the ropes and tore in with both hands to the body but another short right opened the gut again. He blinked and brushed the blood away with his glove. Then he stormed into Sharkey with both hands flying to the body. A right bounced off Sharkey's chin on the ropes but he hammered Walker's head in close with short vicious drives. Slowly and methodically, Sharkey jabbed with his left and waited the opening for his right. It did not come as Walker ducked and plied his left to the body but there was a stream of blood trickling down Mickey's left eye as the bell rang.

ROUND SEVEN—Sharkey boxed his way out carefully again, jabbing with his left hand to the head, clinching and swapping short punches to the body when they fell in close. They jolted each other half way around the ring in a series of clinches and Mickey sneaked his left up three times to the chin as they came away. Sharkey's expression never changed and he worked like an automation as he plied Walker's head with lefts, forced him into the ropes and coldly waited for the chance to level the little fellow with his right hand. Mickey jabbed him out of his composure by setting on him with both hands, whipping a half dozen lefts to the body and a hard overhand right to the chin. Sharkey clinched and a short right to the head knocked Walker's mouthpiece to the canvas just at the bell.

ROUND EIGHT — Sharkey stuck to his prodding game, waiting to unleash the right hand, but Mickey ducked. A string of bandage leaked out of Sharkey's glove and the referee stopped them to tear it off. They immediately jumped into a slugging exchange and the crowd bellowed as Mickey drove his left into Sharkey's body, crossed his right to the chin, and forced the big fellow to looking twice his size to clinch. Sharkey buried a terrific uppercut under Walker's heart and Mickey danced away cautiously. Sharkey jabbed carefully at Walker's injured eye but the terrier leaped under Jack's long left to fire lefts to the body and cross his right to the head at the bell.

ROUND NINE—Mickey slipped in close and drove his short stubby arms into Sharkey's body. Jack tried to hold him and Walker nailed him with a fierce right uppercut to the chin. Mickey launched a terrific offensive, battering Sharkey's big body with both hands driving him across the ring with rights to the head and the crowd roared at the sight of the little fellow outpunching the big man. Sharkey seemed hurt, but he took it complacently and went into a jabbing retreat, and made Walker come to him. A short right to the head weighted Mickey but he landed a left hook smack on Sharkey's jaw. The sailor held and it was an inglorious sight for the big man as little Mickey roughed him at the bell.

ROUND TEN—Sharkey came out with his right glove over his chin to protect him from Mickey's punishing left hooks. They clinched and Walker promptly shifted to a straight right that bounced off Sharkey's chin and then thudded into his body. The big fellow fought strictly on the defensive jabbing perfunctionally with his left as little Mickey worried after him like the toy bulldog they named him, driving into Sharkey with lefts to the body. Walker drove his right to the body and Sharkey missed a right uppercut as a raw amateur would. They went from one clinch to another with Sharkey doing most of the holding, trying to sneak over his right with Walker plugging steadily at his body at the bell.

ROUND ELEVEN — Sharkey came out and clinched but he tried to speed up, diving into Mickey with left hooks to the head. Walker tied him up easily and fired both hands to the body as Sharkey tried to get away. Coming out of a clinch, Mickey fired a right up into Sharkey's head, whipped a left hook to the body and forced the big sailor to hold him desperately in a tight embrace. Walker drove Sharkey into the ropes and hammered both hands to the chin as the crowd went mad. Sharkey was caught off balance leaning way back and Mickey hammered him viciously with both hands. Sharkey was wavering as he got back to the center of the ring but he pulled himself together and laced into Walker with a stream of vicious right handers to the head. He was firing briskly although the crowd still roared for Walker at the bell.

ROUND TWELVE — Sharkey raced from his corner like a different kind of fighter, the lethargy gone, and flashed both hands to Walker's head. Mickey staggered back under the assault and Sharkey was on him again, whaling in with both hands. Mickey rallied and buried a left hook into Sharkey's body as the big fellow slowed the pace a bit. Sharkey popped Walker's head back with a left and nailed him on the chin with a fine right. Walker sparred carefully as Sharkey was on him again, firing both hands. Another right to the chin set Mickey to swinging wildly but Sharkey held him as they fell into a clinch on the ropes. He shot Walker's head back with a right uppercut and then slowed down again, content to clinch up to the bell.

ROUND THIRTEEN — They danced out and fell into a clinch, and Sharkey smashed both hands to the head and Mickey swung for the body. Sharkey set Walker up against ropes and opened his injured eye again with a savage right cross. The blood bothered Walker and he rubbed his eye constantly. Sharkey ripped a left hook to the head and pounded on Walker's chin with a right as they went into a clinch. Mickey snapped the sailor's head back with a right uppercut but Sharkey landed a right hook and an uppercut, making a mess of Mickey's left eye. In close, Sharkey hammered with his right to the damaged side of Walker's head. The crowd booed as Sharkey came to his corner.

ROUND FOURTEEN—Walker charged in with a left and right to the head, forcing Sharkey to step back and the crowd howled in glee as the tide of battle changed constantly. Walker sunk both hands into Sharkey's body again but Jack poked steadily for the harrassed side of Walker's face. As Sharkey tried to measure him Walker flung an overhand right to the head and stepped in with a left to the chin. He was charging and slugging at Sharkey valiantly as the bell rang.

ROUND FIFTEEN — They shook hands and promptly fell into a clinch. Walker stepped in close and ripped a left and right to the head. He drove Sharkey to the ropes with a body barrage and the big fellow clinched. Mickey fired a right to the head that seemed to infuriate Sharkey and he tore into the little bulldog hammering both hands to the head. Referee Donovan warned Sharkey that a punch was low and he promptly drove Walker across the ring with a right to the head. Walker threw a wild right and Sharkey beat him to the punch with a savage right uppercut to the chin. Walker reeled under another series of rights that tore his left eyebrow wide open. Walker was bleeding badly but he dug in a final left hook at the bell.

NET TOURNEY ENTRIES CLOSE

Drawings Will Be Made Tonight for Junior Competition

Entries for the city junior tennis tournament close this afternoon at six o'clock. At that time the drawings will be held. The drawings will be published in Friday's Press and as many as possible of the players will be notified by phone when and where they will play. All entries can be sent to H. C. Olson 112 S. 8th street, phone 1975-J.

Few entries have been received as yet; only ten boys entered in the singles and half that many teams in the doubles. It is hoped that there are many more boys interested in the tournament who will compete. This meet being for the younger players is very valuable in the way of experience and practice and will accustom the tho player to tournament tennis and severe competition. Of the players entered, most of them are last year's quarter-finalists. Fred Boddy last year's singles champion is entered and also the other finalist, Chester Olson. The two are joined in the doubles to defend their championship. The singles is much in doubt this year, since both of last year's finalists are not nearly so good as in past years. There are among the entries, one from Chicago, Illinois who figures prominently in boy's tennis and two entries from Gladstone; Dehlin and Peterson.

TOURNAMENT RULES.

1. All players must be on the court assigned to them by ten minutes after the hour, and the match must be started, otherwise the missing player will be defaulted.
2. Courts and hours will be assigned Thursday night and player will play his first match at that court; with a new assignment for his second round match.
3. One match will be played each hour, with two or three courts in use. St. Joseph's and two courts at the south end of the park will be used.
4. There will be a man in charge at each court and his decisions will rule.
5. United States Lawn Tennis Rules will be used in full.

TWO FORFEITED

The Empops-Cougars game, played July 11, has been forfeited to the Cougars because the Empops used an unregistered player, and the Empops-Turners game on July 13 has been forfeited to the Turners for the same reason.

A protest in the Conquerors-Sluggers match on July 7 was not allowed, and the same action was taken on the protest of the Legion-Printers July 1 game.

54-HIT GAME.

Second Round Games To Be Played Today

The rest of the second round matches of the business and professional division of the horseshoe tournament are to be played this evening, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. They are as follows: Vital Morin vs. Richard Trottier; J. A. Vandewiele vs. Axel Swanson; Oscar Kraus vs. R. H. Labre; John Bawden vs. Charles Hammar.

Conservation has been started on the central airport at Mexico City. According to the government contract a private company will spend nearly $200,000 on the project, which, when completed, will become the property of the Mexican nation. Runways up to a total of 125,000 will be paved, and a metal hangar, 120 feet square, suitable for trimotors will be erected.

All-Brother Baseball Team to Play Sunday

Nahma, the small sawmill town on Big Bay de Noc, which last winter boasted of the only all-brother basketball team in the peninsula and probably the only one in the state, comes out now with one better—an all-Ranguette combination baseball team. The team managed by William Bonifas, of Isabella will play its first game at Nahma on Sunday, opposing the Manistique aggregation. The manager has issued a challenge to any team in the peninsula and managers can make arrangements by writing directly to Mr. Bonifas at Isabella.

Bill Ranguette, of Escanaba, is slated to occupy the pitching mound for the team during the season with Ellsworth, known in peninsula athletic circles as "Mag" behind the plate. Al, who played with Nahma in 1900 when they had a crack Indian ball club, will hold down the initial sack. Louie, of Norway, an all-around athlete, will play short stop. "Hunce" will be at third with Lloyd, Ray and "Gib" in the outfield.

Bill, the veteran pitcher, broke an upper peninsula record four years ago when he shut out the Manistique ball club in 42 minutes, Nahma winning by 1 to 0.

The athletes have been working out regularly and reports indicate they are in excellent shape.

YANKS, TIGERS EACH WIN ONE

Two Homers by Ruth in Second Gives New York Win, 9-5

New York, July 22. (AP)—A pair of home runs by Babe Ruth, his 24th and 25th of the season, and Lou Gehrig's 29th circuit drive gave the New York Yankees an even break in today's double header with the Detroit Tigers. The three homers won the second game 9 to 5 after the Tigers had taken the opener 3 to 2.

Ben Chapman stole his 37th base and Lazzeri tripled with the bases loaded to help the Ruth Gehrig act. The Tigers took the first game behind the six hit pitching of George Uhle and with the aid of John Stone's hitting and Gordon Rhodes wildness.

Tigers Take Lead.

Johnson and Walker walked to start the Tiger first inning and each advanced by stealing. Johnson scored on McManus' out. The Bengals added another run in the fourth on Stone's double and Koenig's single. Comb's triple and Sewell's fly gave the Yanks a run in the first and they retrieved another in the fifth on Dickey's triple and Lazzeri's single. The Tigers got it back in the sixth. Stone singled, advanced on a wild pitch took third on Owen's short single and scored on Grabowski's single.

The Tigers took a 4 to 2 lead in the third inning of the second game, when Charley Ruffing got away to a shaky start. In the Yankee third, though, Sewell singled and Ruth and Gehrig walked. Tommy Bridges won the plaudits of the crowd by striking out Chapman and Lary. Then he got two strikes on Lazzeri, who fouled the next five balls and then hoisted the ball just out of Walker's reach for a triple. The three runs gave the Yanks a lead which they never relinquished.

CHICAGO BRUINS DEFEAT BOSTON

Cubs Rally in Ninth to Tie Score, Win in Eleventh, 5-4

Chicago, July 22. (AP)—Woody English's single in the eleventh inning with Hemsley on base gave the Chicago Cubs a hard earned 5 to 4 victory today over the Boston Braves. The Bruins spotted the Bostonians four runs, but rallied to tie the count with two in the ninth.

Going into extra innings, Bush and Seibold took up the pitching duties after Malone and Zachary had departed. In the eleventh Hemsley doubled with one out, and Hartnett, batting for Bush, walked. Jurges lined out, but English came through to win the game.

By the victory the Cubs took third place in the National league race passing New York.

Earl Wright, field representative of the National Retail Credit Association, will be the principal speaker at a forum meeting of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce at the Delta hotel at 6:15 o'clock Monday evening.

The program has been arranged by the credit bureau of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, which has as its members virtually all merchants of the city. C. B. Smith will preside as toastmaster.

Menominee Sending County Jersey Herd To U. P. State Fair

Plans for showing a Menominee county Jersey herd at the Upper Peninsula State Fair in Escanaba August 24 to 29 will be made at a meeting of the Menominee county Jersey cattle club at the Carney town hall Friday evening at eight o'clock.

A constitution and by-laws will be adopted and arrangements will be made for members to receive the Jersey Bulletin, official Jersey periodical. Decision will also be made on the manner of disposing of winnings at the U. P. State Fair.

Sheep Experiment At Chatham Will Interest Farmers

Farmers of the upper peninsula who have sheep will be interested in experiments being conducted at the Chatham Station on feeding and cross-breeding, according to L. H. Blakeslee, animal husbandry specialist, who has charge. Results will be shown by Mr. Blakeslee at the Annual Farmers' Round-Up on August 8.

In Mr. Blackeslee's opinion, one of the most discussed sheep problems is the cost of feeding ewes during the winter. With this in mind three lots of ewes have been fed on different rations the past two winters and results for that period are available. Results will also be seen on efforts to obtain through cross-breeding a good fleece and a good lamb carcass.

"We are handling the sheep flock under the most approved methods of feeding and management," said Mr. Glakenslee. "We will be glad to tell all details of the methods at the round-up."

The station sheep flock is described by Mr. Blakeslee as being composed of about 200 breeding ewes, serving a triple purpose. About 350 acres of cut-over pasture and a portion of the hay produced on the farm are being marketed through lambs and wool. The thirty pure-bred Hampshires furnish breeding stock for many Upper Peninsula flocks, and animals from the main flock are also used for experimental work.

News Happenings At Fort Brady

BY JACK H. FOSTER

Sault Ste. Marie—Just two weeks of training here has turned a group of raw recruits into what is beginning to look like something. The trainees are now such an improved lot that about five hundred people from the Sault come out every night to watch "Parade in Review."

Work at the rifle range will not be held this week as originally planned but it will take place right at the beginning of next week. Last year the shooting was done at the beginning of the third week of camp but the 1931 marksmanship practice is a few days later than that.

The trainees have spent less time on drilling lately and they have given over their time mainly to learning how to sight their rifles, fix up their packs, and put up "pup tents" in preparation for the coming days at the rifle range near Rexford, about thirty miles from Sault Ste. Marie.

Pay day last week was the most welcome of all the training days for the "C. M's." It also meant much more profit for the merchants of the Soo.

The officers who supervised the training work during the first two weeks at camp, have now left, as is the customary plan, their places being taken by an entirely new group of commissioned officers.

A special guard of honor was engaged last Saturday when a group of Canadian army officers visited Camp Cole.

Several week-end passes were issued to the young men, and many of the trainees were out for a good time last Saturday and Sunday.

A rain storm coming Sunday evening found many of the "C. M.'s" with nothing to do so a group of them got together and gathered around a piano and had a regular old songfest in the gymnasium.

Different civic representatiions have been coming up to Camp Cole in afternoons of late to inspect the place and give it the once-over. The regular visitors' day does not come to the last Sunday of the training camp.

Colonel Stokes, chief-of-staff of this corps area, visited C. M. T. Camp Cole on Tuesday. Later on the camp will be paid its annual visit by Major Parker, head of all C. M. T. C.'s of this area.

Swimming is held for some of the boys every afternoon, but this cold Lake Superior water isn't generally found so pleasant, especially to those not used to it.

Pulchritude, Pep Feature Escanaba Drummers Parade

Down Ludington street they came, beautiful maidens smoking cigarettes and pounding drums, cannibals, rubes, dudes and clowns, in colorful raiment, but maintaining military precision and pep in their marching.

It was the drum and bugle corps of Cloverland Post 82, American Legion, giving the home folks at Escanaba a treat in the shape of a costume parade. With Drum Major Herb Grosnick heading the procession, the company swung down Ludington street and up again, at times almost hemmed in by traffic as folks turned out to watch the fun. By the time the outfit returned to their meeting place at the city hall they had travelled about 40 city blocks. They called it a good workout, and adjourned for a social meeting, banquet and smoker, given as a reward for the showing they made at Houghton last month.

Members of the local American Legion post are now investigating the possibilities for sending the drum and bugle corps to the National Legion convention in Detroit Sept. 21 pointing out that such a trip would be an excellent advertising stunt for Escanaba.

175,000 Acres Hit By Fires So Far; Iron County Leads

Perodical rain has prevented any spectacular outbreak of forest fires in Michigan during the past month. However, there has been a steady run of fires in both the upper and lower peninsulas according to the division of field operations of the conservation department. No particular fire has been large but together they have been piling up a considerable burned over acreage.

During the past two weeks 148 new fires have been reported bringing the state's total for the season to 1,926.

It has been estimated that 175,000 acres have been burned over so far this season.

Iron county continues to lead the list with 112 reported fires. Dickinson is second with 103 fires. Midland county, with 101 fires leads the list of lower peninsula counties.

NEW ISO-VIS TEST TOUR

AAA REPORT
certifies to excellent lubrication by New Iso-Vis in Chevrolet

1 Iso-Vis Motor Oil did not thin out from dilution.
2 During the entire test of 9,000 miles, all parts of engine and chassis were lubricated effectively.
3 Consumption: Iso-Vis 50 (Heavy) in 1,000 mile test at 30 m. p. h.—only 1 qt. At higher speeds, all oils showed greatly increased consumption.
4 Carbon: only 4.4 grams per cylinder at 30 miles per hour, using Iso-Vis 50 (Heavy).
5 Cylinder Wear: too slight to measure.
6 Red Crown Ethyl Gasoline used—did not knock.

DON'T miss seeing this "laboratory car." It will be at your Chevrolet dealer. What a demonstration of the effectiveness of New Iso-Vis this Chevrolet has given.

Its engine is still in fine condition, after ripping off a year's average mileage on the Indianapolis Speedway in a little more than 3 weeks. It was used there in a series of day and night tests during the lubrication study conducted by the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association. Now the 13 cars are individually high spotting through the middle-west, gathering more data on the road. See this Chevrolet today.

Further proof of the excellent lubrication given by New Iso-Vis is shown in the A. A. A. report. Try this tested motor oil yourself. You'll find it worth while to change to New Iso-Vis—the only motor oil that will not thin out from dilution.
